Ice Covers Area— More Is Expected

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

More than one inch of freezing rain fell on the Quad-City area Monday night and Tuesday, creating a thick coating of ice which caused numerous problems through this morning.

More of the same weather is forecast for this evening. The ice was blamed for traffic accidents throughout the area and for numerous power failures when tree limbs fell on power lines.

Illinois Power Company officials estimated that more than 150 homes were without power at some time during a period from noon Tuesday through midnight.

Fleets of city salt trucks, power company repair vehicles, fire trucks and other vehicles were on duty attempting to put the Quad-Cities "back on their feet" after the storm.

All schools in the area closed Tuesday, many offices remained locked and businesses and factories reported a high degree of absenteeism from the jobs.

Some cities reported putting the largest single amount of salt used for any storm thus far in the winter on the streets. In Madison, the salt supply was drained to the point where another storm Tuesday night could have exhausted the supply.

1.65-Inch Rainfall
Rainfall during the storm totaled 1.65 inches, including .25 of an inch in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. Tuesday and .40 of an inch the following day. In parts of the city, the accumulation of ice was more than a half an inch thick.

In Granite City, the water flooded at least three basements and limbs blocked several streets, including East 27th Street near Washington Avenue.

One limb, heavily covered with ice, fell on the station wagon of Charles Mucho, 2437 Adams St., in front of Mucho's home at 11 a.m. Tuesday. The carrier rack and top of the car were damaged.

The Granite City Street Department started at 4:30 p.m. Monday spreading salt. Four trucks worked during the day and evening and two trucks were kept on the streets throughout the night. At 5 a.m. Tuesday, the other two trucks were recalled to service.

Street Superintendent Lionel Portell said that about 100 tons of a mixture of salt and cinders was spread on the street during the storm and Wednesday.

"We are in better shape than most communities around here on salt," Portell said, indicating that about 30 tons of the salt and cinder mix are still in reserve here.

The 100 tons spread this week comprises one-half of what has been used thus far this winter in the city.

Clean Up City
Portell said the task of cleaning up limbs and debris from the storm has been almost continuous since Monday and indicated he would keep six trucks assigned to that task until the job is completed.

The Venice Street Department worked nine straight hours spreading salt, an operation

'Christmas a Time of Heartache When One Is Poor and Lonely ...'

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Trips to the moon and beyond are becoming fairly commonplace. On home television screens can be seen a beautifully detailed picture of China's Great Wall. Our technology seems capable of delivering almost any marvel that we command.

Yet, bitter poverty persists in this land of plenty. As do heartaches, loneliness and feelings of "what's the use?" The Christmas season is anything but joyous for those who feel that the good things in life are for someone else.

Area families and individuals facing the prospects of a lonely and miserable Christmas have at least one bright candle penetrating the gloom—the effort expended by the Salvation Army and its legion of volunteers, combined with the generous spirit displayed by Quad-Cityans as the Yuletide holiday approaches.

The tremendous amount of poverty that still exists throughout the nation becomes painfully evident at Christmas time.

Food, Clothing, Toys
Entire families would have no Christmas dinner without the baskets distributed each year at the Army's headquarters.

Very often, a new pair of shoes or a warm winter coat is just the gift a child wants and receives from the Salvation Army.

FALLEN TREE BRANCHES, broken by the weight of thick ice, were evident throughout the Quad-Cities Tuesday and Wednesday.

The branches fell on power lines, roadways and in one instance on an auto. This photo was taken in the 2400 block of Cleveland Boulevard. The thick coating of ice on the branch in the center gives it a glossy appearance.

Many parents of limited income accept the invitation to shop for their children's gifts at "toy shops" established by the Citadel staffs. Most of the toys are donated, purchased with contributions, or "old" toys refurbished by volunteers to delight a new small owner.

Among those visiting Salvation Army toy centers were a totally blind mother who was able to choose gifts for each of her five children with the help of volunteers who staffed the shop.

An elderly couple which selected presents for three grandchildren. The children had lost their parents in a plane crash and the couple's social security and small pension checks barely covered the needs of three growing youngsters.

A Quad-City mother arrived at the Salvation Army "toy shop" in a bathrobe and slippers, still wearing a hospital name tag around her wrist.

She explained that she was recuperating from the

Danger—Thin Ice
The Pontoon Beach police today urged parents to keep their children off the ice on Long Lake until the ice becomes thick enough for skating. Despite the drowning last Thursday, Dec. 7, of Mark A. Baker, 12, of 4105 Kaseberg Lane, who fell through the ice, children continue to skate and play on the lake, officers said.

Terms of all mayors and all but one supervisor in the Quad-Cities expire this spring.

The first of the filing periods will open Dec. 26 for candidates who plan to seek election on April 3 to township posts and to city offices in Granite City. Candidates for these offices will have until Jan. 29 to file nominating petitions.

A second filing period—for candidates who will seek election to city offices in Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach—will open Jan. 8 and continue through Feb. 12. The elections for these three municipalities will be held April 17.

The two park districts in the Quad-City area—the Granite City and Venice districts—also will hold elections in April, with voters scheduled to elect only one commissioner in a separate election on April 3.

The Granite City district expects to conduct its election of two park commissioners on April 17.

On this basis, filing of candidacies for the one Venice post will start Dec. 26, while the filing for the Granite City candidacies opens Jan. 8. Park district candidates have seven days in which to file.

66 Local Officials to Be Elected

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Filing will begin soon for 66 local-level public offices which will be the subject of balloting in the Quad-City area in the spring of 1973.

Included on the list are 31 municipal offices—10 in Granite City, eight in Madison, seven in Venice and six in the village of Pontoon Beach.

Seven school board positions are to be filled—three in Madison, two in Granite City and two in Venice.

Only three park board posts will be decided in April—two in Granite City and one in Venice.

Township voting will relate to 25 offices—eight in Venice Township (Venice-Madison area), another eight in Chouteau Township, seven in Nameoki Township and two in Granite City.

The 1973 township elections on April 3 will be marked by a number of changes resulting from the new Illinois Constitution and adoption of new legislation since the last township balloting in 1971.

Among these will be the election of a fourth member of all township boards of auditors which, in past years, have been made up of three auditors.

In addition, township supervisors whose terms do not expire in 1973 (as in the case of Louis Whitesell, supervisor of Nameoki Township) will remain in office. Many also are members of the new County Board established since 1971 town elections.

Township voters no longer will elect assistant supervisors since these offices were abolished last June under the New County Board organization procedure as the town board and

In most instances, township voters will elect a supervisor, a town clerk, assessor, tax collector and four auditors.

This will be the case in Venice and Chouteau Townships, and the balloting will involve all town offices except the supervisor in Nameoki Township.

In Granite City, however, the township election will involve only the offices of supervisor and township assessor, since the Granite City Council also serves as the town board and the Granite City treasurer and city clerk serve as town officials.

School Tax Rate Cut Ahead

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Granite City Board of Education gave assurance Monday night that it will continue its policy of maintaining as low a tax rate as possible.

A reduction in the rate is likely, the board reported. The school board issued a statement in response to a resolution by the Granite City Board of Realtors which cited constantly increasing taxation and the effect it is having on owners of homes and commercial properties.

The realtors said the new anticipated tax rate of $3.83 per $100 valuation for the school district is higher than that of other nearby communities which also provide quality education.

As the board approved a statement prepared as a reply to the realtors' resolution, school board member Monroe Worthen commented:

"Some people have a misconception of the relationship of increased budget costs to increased student population—and also in relation to increased programs the district must perform under state mandate."

Board member George Moore added, "I'm sure many don't realize the number of programs proposed and mandated (by the state) without making provisions for funding them."

Realtors' Resolution
The text of the resolution by the Board of Realtors, signed by Francis E. Judd, president, and Ray M. Kaegel, secretary, follows:

Cities in Area Get U. S. Revenue Checks

Federal revenue sharing checks totaling $351,596 were received this week by Granite City, Madison and Venice as payments for the first half of 1972.

Granite City Treasurer Paul Rutledge said the city received $251,126, while Carl Byrnes, controller at Venice, said the check for that city was $55,217. Madison Comptroller Lester Firtos said the Madison allotment was $45,615.

The allocation for Pontoon Beach is expected to be $3,964, but Village Treasurer Loretta Skinner said today the check has not yet been received.

Rutledge said he invested $250,000 of the Granite City payment in U.S. Treasury Bills.

In addition, Rutledge said, he invested another $400,000 in city funds to bring to $1,550,000 the total amount Granite City now has in interest-bearing certificates.

Granite City investments are set up so that $100,000 in certificates mature each 15 days to provide ample operating expenses.

WONDERMENT OF CHRISTMAS is reflected in the dark eyes of Karen Joy Kerley, 10 months old, held by her father, Captain Ronald Kerley of the Salvation Army, as her tiny fingers clutch a Christmas doll beautifully gowned in bright green taffeta. The dolls dressed in red velvet (next to Karen) and colorful prints and satins are among those donated through the 'Dress-A-Doll' contest, sponsored each year by Granite City Trust & Savings Bank. They will be presented at Christmas time to children in need.

A contract for remodeling of the office area in the amount of $13,200 has been awarded to the G. H. Sternberg Co., Edwardsville, and Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis), Reiske said.

Amsted Industries reported its backlog of orders totaled $77,000,000 at Sept. 30, up $17,000,000 or 22% from a year earlier.

SANSOUCIE, CHRIS, Rural Route Three, Box 306, Belleville, formerly of Granite City. Entered into rest 12:05 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 13, 1972, at Four Fountain Nursing Home, Belleville.

Beloved husband of the late Mrs. Dora Sansoucie; dear father of Mrs. Mabel Richardson; dear brother of Fred Sansoucie, Mrs. Sophia Schewe and Mrs. Sadie Kite; dear grandfather and great-grandfather.

Funeral services 1 p.m. Friday, Dec. 15, at MERCER MORTUARY Chapel, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave. Interment St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameski Road. Visitation after 1 p.m. today.

This was announced by Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and Goff Smith, president, in the company's annual report to stockholders released Tuesday.

The Amsted executives said the increased backlog "reflects a rise in orders for industrial products, particularly those related to the construction industry, such as water pipe and waste pipe."

They added that "this increase in backlog, coupled with the continuing growth of the economy predicted by most economists, points to a good year for the company in 1973." In its fiscal year ended Sept. 30, earnings were up about 30% on an 11% increase in sales. Net income amounted to $12,200,000, or $4.41 per share, compared to $9,400,000, or $3.41 per share, a year ago. Sales were a record $306,200,000, up from $276,600,000 in 1971.

that in addition to higher sales, several other factors had a favorable impact on earnings. These included a decline in metal scrap prices, a major raw material used by the company's foundry plants, reinvestment of the investment tax credit and improvement in operations of the cast iron pressure pipe plant in Florence, N.J.

In February, Amsted acquired Glamorgan Pipe & Foundry Co., a Lynchburg, Va., producer of ductile cast iron, and plastic pipe for water transmission and cast iron soil pipe for waste removal.

Additions to fixed assets were $8,813,000 in fiscal 1972, an increase of $3,143,000 from the prior year. On the basis of present plans, expenditures for plant additions in 1973, excluding acquisitions, will be about $12,000,000.

Amsted's total debt at Sept. 30 amounted to $4,560,000 and was down $2,282,000 from a year ago.

MORE ABOUT

School Tax

City, on behalf of the homeowners and owners of commercial properties, whom it is our business to serve, urgently request the Board of Education of the Community Unit School District No. 9 to "hold the line" on any further tax increases on real properties in Granite City and to solicit any further support after 1972 from governmental revenue sharing programs, and be it further,

Resolved, as realtors and taxpayers vitally interested in a type of growth and progress for Granite City not jeopardized by excessive taxation, respectfully call upon your board to make special efforts to effect similar economies, to curb waste and reduce or defer expenditures wherever possible, and, be it further

Resolved, that suitable copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of this Board to the Board of Education of the Community Unit School District No. 9 and Michael J. Bakalis, Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Illinois at Springfield.

School Board Response

The response by the Board of Education follows:

The school board appreciates the concern of the realtors. The letter and the resolution have been reviewed, and we will make every effort to comply with it.

It has always been the policy of the Granite City Board of Education to maintain as low a tax rate as possible.

Attention is directed to Paragraph 7, Page 1 of the resolution which compares rates of adjoining areas. Records will show that the Granite City District is the only one of those listed which is not operating on deficit spending. We have issued no anticipation warrants since 1969. Some of these districts are borrowing the full 75% allowable to them.

Your attention is also called to the fact that our educational tax rate of $2.35 cannot be increased further without referendum.

This will provide every taxpayer a chance to decide if it will be increased or stay where it is now set.

In addition, the building fund tax rate of 37½ cents and the transportation fund rate of 12 cents are also at the maximum without referendum.

The life safety code tax rate of 5 cents and the special education rate of 4 cents will be discontinued in the 1973 year. Therefore, it appears that the tax rate for the 1973-74 year should be less than the rate for the 1972-73 year.

The only possibility for increases are in the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund and the junior college fund. These increases, if they come about, should not equal the decreases set out above.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

Again, we thank you for your concern. We will do all we can to lower the tax rate in the 1973-74 year.

Rotarians Expand Christmas Light Judging to Venice

The Madison Rotary Club will expand its Christmas decorating contest to include the City of Venice this year. Three $20 prizes will be awarded to the homes with the best outside decorations.

The judges will tour both Madison and Venice between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. on Dec. 21. Persons wishing to enter are asked to have their lights on during those hours.

In order not to miss any homes that wish to enter, contestants are requested to send a post card with their name and address on it to the Madison Rotary, P.O. Box 1, Madison, Ill. 62060, before Dec. 21.

The First National Bank in Madison is donating the prize money to the club.

The club voted 12-7 to raise the members' dues to $4 per month.

In other club business the Rotarians voted 10-4 to donate $75 to the YMCA youth conference on Jan. 25.

A discussion was held as to possible money making projects. The possibility of a smorgasbord after the first of the year and a spring dance are being considered.

A Valentine party on Feb. 14 is being planned, Wayne Scannell is the general chairman of the event.

It was announced by Jerry Maeras, club president, that the traditional Christmas party for 120 Madison school children under the direction of Mrs. Valerie Stevens will be held at next week's meeting.

The traditional birthday song in honor of Rotarian Jack Friedman was sung and a flower presented to his father, Rotarian E. A. Friedman since Jack was absent.

Rotarian Friedman announced the death of Sam Hacker, a charter member of the club.

It was announced that on Jan. 3, Dr. Thomas Layloff Jr., professor of Chemistry at St. Louis University, will speak to the club.

Levee President Fires Four, Hires Daughter

The East Side Levee and Sanitary district is advertising for rental of a dredging machine to clean out Harding Ditch in St. Clair County, but plans to buy such a machine as soon as possible, according to Romel Wilbon, new president of the five-man levee board.

Wilbon said the purchase of a hydraulic excavator would save the district $100,000 a year in labor.

Plans to buy the equipment were revealed after the district published an advertisement for bids on "securing" a dredger. Asked if this meant the district planned to buy the equipment now, Wilbon said the use of the word "secure" was a clerical mistake in preparing the advertisement, and that the ad will be changed to specify rental.

Wilbon said authorization to purchase the equipment would have to be approved in a board meeting.

At the same time, Wilbon disclosed that he had dismissed four district employees for economic reasons, and had hired his daughter as his personal secretary. He said he also has rehired Leroy Roberts as an assistant manager of the district's pollution department.

Employees dismissed by Wilbon included Jack Bazzell, chief of pump operators; Anthony Palmeri, chief dispatcher;

Elected officers who will serve during the 1973 year are Howard Bolton, worshipful master; Howard Prewett, senior warden; Martin Love, junior warden; William J. Mehl, treasurer; and Norman Kinder, secretary.

Coaching Showdown Seen in Wrestling Action Saturday

A coaching face-off between Granite City High School's wrestling coach, Bill "Red" Schmitt, and one of his former proteges, Gus Schalkham, new coach at Normandy (Mo.) High School will take place Saturday in a dual meet at the GCHS gym. The Warriors also will compete at Edwardsville Friday.

Schalkham, a Granite City wrestler who graduated in 1967, was coach of the Christian Brothers College team last year and assumed the reins at Normandy this season.

While at GCHS, Schalkham not only trained under Schmitt but was a first-string competitor. He also excelled in track and cross country here and was the first teenager ever to complete a 100-mile run in less than 24 hours.

SIUE Wrestler
After graduation, Schalkham went to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville where he organized the school's first wrestling club. The club was instrumental in organizing a varsity wrestling program at SIUE, a program in which he competed.

Under his guidance, the Normandy squad last weekend finished ished second to Riverview Gardens in the rugged Riteour Tournament in Missouri.

Granite City finished second to Riverview Gardens in the event last year as Normandy took fourth. Under new guidelines on the sizes of schools allowed in the competition, Granite City was ineligible to enter the event this year.

'Beat the Old Coach'

Coach Schmitt said he expects the Normandy wrestlers to be "up" for Saturday's event. "We expect Normandy to come here and really give us a go because Gus (Schalkham) would like nothing better than to beat us. He is gearing them up, as all of our former wrestlers who become coaches do, to come back and beat the old coach," Schmitt commented.

The week-end's competition will begin with sophomore, junior varsity and varsity matches at Edwardsville Friday and will conclude with Saturday's showdown.

Sophomore wrestling at Edwardsville will begin at 6:30 p.m. with simultaneous varsity and junior varsity competition to follow at 7:15 p.m.

Saturday's events will begin at 1 p.m. with sophomore events, followed at 1:45 p.m. by the junior varsity and varsity events.

The two meets will give Schmitt his first look this season at the underclassmen in competition.

Waterfowl Hunting Ends Here Saturday

The Illinois waterfowl hunting season will close after Saturday and hunting will be prohibited on all but the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers land in Madison, Calhoun and Jersey counties.

"Corps of Engineers properties in these three counties are the only state-managed areas, with exception of the Union County and Horseshoe Lake public shooting areas, on which Canada geese can be hunted after the closing of duck season," said Jim Lockart, supervisor of the division of wildlife resources for the Illinois Department of Conservation.

The Illinois legislature resumed its regular and special sessions today, with much of the attention focused on law-maker pay raises urged by the Citizens' Conference on State Legislatures.

A state bill pre-filed for the Jan. 10 session calls for the death penalty on political assassination, murder of a law officer or fireman, murder of a prison employee, murder of two or more people, murder by contract, murder linked to an armed robbery, arson or aggravated kidnapping and a hijack-skyjack killing.

Washington speculation indicates John H. Shaffer will be replaced as Federal Aviation administrator.

Better-attended Saturday night Mississippi River Festival concerts were urged Monday by Mrs. Elizabeth Sayad as she resigned from the MRF board. She attributed low Saturday turnouts to adherence to "stand of the same type offered during the regular season of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra."

Attendance has been large at the MRF's summertime Sun-

Local Hockey Teams Lose

Mendoza Sporting Goods ice hockey teams lost both of their games at the Wilson Park rink this week.

The A team lost 3-2 to Delta of St. Louis. George Bartz, assisted by John Kerkovich, and Stan Zabal scored. Mendoza's B team lost to Creve Coeur 3-2. Eric Painter scored both goals.

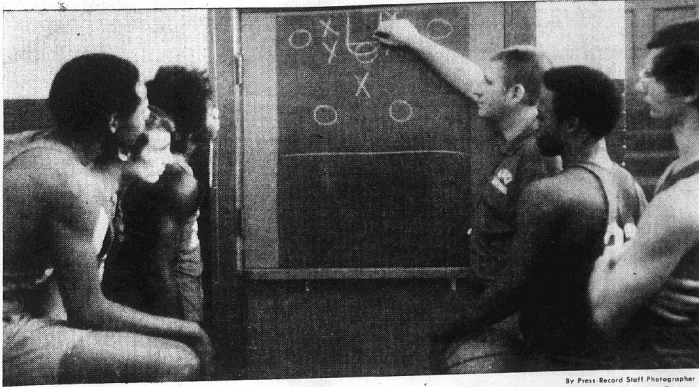

The Lindsey Construction midjet team lost to Delta 5-4.

Jack Scoville, a new East Side Levee and Sanitary District trustee, said yesterday he technically lives in the district, although his family residence is in Belleville.

Governor-elect Daniel Walker and other state officials will be inaugurated at unprecedented outdoor ceremonies Jan. 8. He will speak at the base of the Lincoln statue on the front steps of the Capitol.

MORE ABOUT Christmas

birth of her fourth child and had just been released from the hospital.

She told the staff, "I feel like I'm still doped up but I just had to come. I've got my children at home to think about."

There is an army behind the Salvation Army at Christmas-time.

The "soldiers" are members of service clubs, women's groups, fire departments—to name a few—who know from experience that the best way to feel the joy of Christmas is to do something for others.

These groups dress dolls, make, collect or repair toys, and help with Christmas fund-raising, so that it will be a happier Christmas for those who have less.

Fuel for Warmth

Salvation Army Christmas gifts come not only in the form of toys for children, but as clothing, shoes, grocery checks for a homecooked holiday dinner and, sometimes, a ton of coal or a tank of oil to keep a family warm.

Each year throughout the United States, hundreds of families enjoy Christmas dinners, thousands of children receive new toys and clothes, homeless men sit down on Christmas Day to a free holiday feast and shut-ins in hospitals and nursing homes are visited.

Last Christmas, a total of 650 food baskets was filled by the Granite City Salvation Army groups, usually recognized as Corps and 112 other requests for food items were referred to local clubs, schools and church groups, which had registered their willingness to aid a distressed family.

1,023 People Aided
Individuals assisted through the local Christmas effort numbered 4,023 and 1,264 cases were cleared by the hardworking Salvation Army staff prior to the holidays.

Corps volunteers visit area nursing homes and Scott Air Force Base Hospital and last year presented 562 gifts to the elderly and shut-ins and 212 gifts to the hospitalized service men. An additional 223 greeting cards and gifts were mailed to those in military service.

New toys distributed to Quad-City children in 1971 totaled 1,105 and a similar number is expected to be available this Christmas.

Updated Kettles

Salvation Army Christmas kettles have been "cooking" since 1891 when a Corps captain in San Francisco wanted to provide Christmas dinners for the poor and hit upon the idea of placing a large kettle in a conspicuous place so the public could make donations.

The Christmas kettles are catching up with the times in many large metropolitan areas — featuring a self-ringing bell housed in a booth complete with a public address system to broadcast the traditional Yuletide music.

Many kettles still are manned by volunteers with frozen fingers, as prevalent in the local area.

Businessmen, members of women's and men's service groups, usually recognized as "the backbone of the community," often give an evening or a

Fire Destroys Room in Pontoon Beach Home

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a storage room at the home of Steve Hill, 4021 Kaseberg Lane, at 9:30 a.m. today.

Contents of the house also were damaged by smoke and water. The amount of loss was undetermined. Long Lake firemen responded to the alarm.

Saturday to bellringing at the kettles.

So do their long-haired sons and daughters — from college for the holidays.

Volunteer Groups

In excess of $3,000 was added to the "Tree of Lights" campaign last Christmas by such volunteer organizations as Tricity Shrine Club, DeMolays, Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, Moose Lodge 272, Granite City Rotary, Granite City Kiwanis, American Legion Auxiliary Unit 113, Salvation Army Home League, National Secretaries Association, Madison Brass Choir, Granite City Optimist Club, the Salvation Army Girl Scouts, Emerson PTA and the Acteens of First Baptist Church.

The Salvation Army does not await the outcome of its appeal for Christmas funds. Its leaders and volunteers work in the here and now, doing what comes to their attention with what is available.

A great many people depend on the Corps on a year-around basis. At Christmastime, its task is expanded immeasurably.

A check sent to the Salvation Army headquarters, Post Office Box 338, Granite City, Ill. 62040, can help to multiply the good that the Army is doing at this Christmas season.

The need is here today.

MORE ABOUT Ice Covers

which began at 11 p.m. Monday. During that period, 50 tons of salt were spread, half of the city's total supply.

Venice was hampered by the task of keeping McKinley Bridge free of ice and also had to spread salt on County Road, almost to the U.S. Army installation, as a train blocking the Broadway crossing forced traffic to be rerouted that way.

An Illinois Central Gulf freight train became stopped in the intersection when an air hose broke. Engineers were unable to move the train until the break was located and repaired and the crossing was blocked from 1 a.m. Tuesday until about 2:30 a.m.

Venice Street Department employees also assisted one homeowner whose basement became flooded during the storm. Clean-up operations in that city began Wednesday and two trucks are being used to pick up tree limbs from yards and sidewalks.

In Madison, the street department spread 20 to 25 tons of salt from 3 a.m. Tuesday through noon Wednesday, leaving only about 15 tons of salt in the event of another major storm. Snow predicted for Wednesday night failed to develop.

Telephone lines throughout the area were tied up Tuesday to the point where long waits were necessary for many to receive a dial tone. The tieups created problems for persons attempting to report downed limbs or power lines.

The telephone also was a problem for Illinois Power Co. as calls came in almost uninterrupted from 11 a.m. Tuesday until late into the night, reporting downed power lines.

Carl Mathias, 17, service area manager, said that up to 50 or 60 homes were without power during periods of the day and night.

"As soon as we could fix one, another power line would fall," he said.

Mathias estimated that about 125 IP cars and trucks were on the streets Tuesday attempting to keep up with the falling lines. Most of the tree limbs fell on the lines leading into homes, so only those homes were affected, he said.

Only one major power line break was reported in the 2700 block of Grand Avenue, caused when a tree toppled on the line, he said. Nearly all of the lines were restored to service by Wednesday morning, he related.

Venice Schools Closed

In Venice, the schools closed because of weather for the first time in more than 26 years. Superintendent John Pier, said, Tuesday's closing was necessary because buses were unable to get out of the Bi-State Transit Agency garage and because of teachers who live outside of the city were unable to drive to work.

"We didn't want to be responsible for anyone being killed," Pier related.

He said ice also played havoc with school buses Monday as one became stuck in the road in Eagle Park Acres Monday morning and two others became stuck trying to get around the stopped vehicle. "Those buses did not arrive until noon Monday," Pier commented.

The Venice School District office opened on time Tuesday but Pier ordered the office closed at 10:30 a.m. after all teachers had been notified of the closing of the schools.

Classes at the Granite City and Madison public schools also were cancelled Tuesday. As were all parochial school classes in the area. School resumed Wednesday morning.

Bi-State's Public Transit resumed work Tuesday afternoon as some buses ran as much as an hour late. A spokesman called it the slowest down in years.

Heavy ice on the streets of the Quad-Cities was responsible for 20 traffic accidents Tuesday morning and decided not to drive, so traffic was relatively light during the day.

William Corp.-East, which collects trash and garbage in Granite City, also decided the roads were unsafe and ordered its drivers to postpone all routes Tuesday.

Clyde Baker, works manager for Milam, said today that trash collections are continuing one day later than usual through Saturday.

Illinois State Police announced during the storm that they have installed four weather phones to give drivers regularly updated information on driving conditions.

The weather is updated at least four times each day. The telephone number for weather information is 245-1333.

Quad-Citians were reassured to know they were not the only ones in the country experiencing severe weather as heavy ice was experienced from Illinois to New Mexico.

Inclement weather resulted in cancellation of the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter's board of directors meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Also postponed until a later date were plans by the Tri-City Chapter of the National Secretaries Association to solicit donations from passersby at the Salvation Army's red kettle sites Tuesday.

AUTO HEFT CHARGED

When it was determined that the car was stolen earlier from the home of Wayne Rodger, 2123 Washington Ave., he was charged with auto theft.

THREE-AUTO ACCIDENT

Autos driven by Lois M. Warren, 2032 Benton St., and Helen R. Raddeveich, Collinsville, collided on ice at 3:10 p.m. Wednesday at 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, and the Warren car bounced into the parked auto of Henry Lueders, 3104 Yale Drive.

STUCK ON ICE, STRUCK

The auto of Linda K. Young, 2009 Beckwith St., Madison, stuck on ice on McNair Street between Edwardsville Road and Rhodes Street in Madison, was struck by the auto of Peggy L. Hodge, 1941 Rhodes St., Madison, backing from an alley, at 8:40 a.m. Wednesday.

Entry was gained by prying the door and breaking the door glass.

A MYSTICAL APPEARANCE was given to trees in Civic Park in Granite City Tuesday morning as a white coating of ice covered the branches, blending into the light overcast sky. ## Venice Seeking Agreement on Housing Needs

By WALTER STRANGE

A federal regulation is the major cause of a conflict over what the Illinois Public Aid Commission can pay a local housing authority and what the authority needs to rent a unit, Alderman John Ervin reported to the Venice City Council Tuesday night.

He said that a meeting of city officials and Edward Foley, executive director of the Madison County Housing authority, was held in an effort to work out some type of emergency housing. Ervin told the council a problem arises due to an amendment to a housing authority bill presented by United States Senator Forakis, of Massachusetts, which forbids paying more than 25% of a person's aid income, after all deductions are made, toward rent in a public housing authority.

Ervin noted that public aid will pay $30 and $30 to private landlords, but refuse to pay the minimum $54 a month needed by the local authority. Due to budget problems and an overabundance of aid recipients, the Madison County Housing authority no longer can accept persons on aid until a higher rent is negotiated, Ervin explained.

Mayor John E. Lee told the council he would attempt to arrange a meeting with John Ripplemeier, regional director of the Illinois Public Aid, and the council, to try to find a solution to the problem.

In other council action, Sgt. Ray Mikolaszuk was made acting assistant chief of police pending an examination. The council also hired Mark Koelker as a police desk clerk.

Mayor Lee reviewed the bid for remodeling the city hall submitted to the council by M. H. Wolfe & Co. Final approval was given. The work will begin shortly after the first of the year.

The council authorized the mayor to enter into a contract with the Madison Housing authority whereby the city street department will haul trash and garbage from the housing units in Venice for a fee of $400 a month.

On a motion by Ervin and seconded by Alderman Oscar King, the council authorized Fire Chief William Meehan to purchase two new radio receivers at an approximate cost of $250 each.

ASSAULTED, ROBBED

A 25-year-old East St. Louis woman reported Tuesday that she was pulled into an alley between the 1000 blocks of Calhoun and Logan streets in Venice and assaulted by three young men. The men stole her purse containing $100 worth of food stamps and $50 cash, she said. She reportedly walked to East St. Louis after the assault and Tuesday went to Christian Welfare Hospital in East St. Louis for medical treatment.

Byron Attending State Conference at Chicago

Nicholas G. Byron, Madison County state's attorney, is among 85 Illinois prosecutors attending the Illinois State Attorneys' Association annual conference which will end Friday in the Drake Hotel at Chicago. The conference began Wednesday.

The association is made up of the state's attorneys of the 102 Illinois counties who hold their annual conference in December of each year to conduct business meetings, elect officers and consider legal topics of current import relative to both criminal and civil actions.

Governor-Elect Daniel Walker welcomed the officials at the opening breakfast and State Supreme Court Justice Daniel Ward addressed the group at a luncheon meeting.

Presentations were made of the new code of correction which soon will govern all sentencing and post-trial proceedings in Illinois. The recently enacted implied consent law and its effect on drunken driving cases and the handling of tax objection matters also were discussed.

RECOVER STOLEN TIRES
Venice police, investigating a report of a car being stripped on County Road at 10 p.m. Tuesday, recovered a tire and wheel which had been removed from the auto of David Tupper, who resides at the Granite City Army installation. The car was jacked up and two tires and wheels removed. The first tire was found near the car and the second was located later. Three men were questioned about the incident but no charges were filed.

THREE CARS DAMAGED
The auto of Charlie Bush, 618 Merceda Ave., Venice, and Thomas Hammond, 528 Merceda Ave., collided in the 500 block of Merceda Avenue at 10 p.m. Monday. Hammond's auto was knocked into the parked car of Thomas Brent, 528 Merceda Ave. Bush was charged with driving while his license was revoked.

HOME BURGLARIZED
Items valued at $800 were stolen from the home of Luther Williams, 1817 Fifth St., Madison. It was reported at 10 p.m. Tuesday. Taken were a color television, a radio and four rolls of pennies. All drawers in the home were ransacked. Police believe a skeleton key may have been used to open a door to the home.

SEA-GOING GARAGES
The Toyota Marus may be the world's most expensive parking lots. The ships cost about $7 million each to build and carry from 1,200 to 2,700 vehicles.

Final Exams Iced Out at University Reset for Friday

Final examinations canceled of Tuesday's ice storm have been rescheduled for Friday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Robert Bruker, SIUE director of admissions and records, said Friday's examinations will be held the same times for which they were scheduled Tuesday. The only exception is final examinations for Business Division students that had been set for 12:20 p.m. Friday.

Individual questions should be directed to the rescheduling office at 662-3057, Bruker said.

Following is a list of courses with examinations rescheduled from Tuesday to Friday: Biology 101, sections 1-2, 10 a.m. in Communications Building Room 0186; Biology 312a, sections 1-4, 2:20 p.m. in Peck Building 1402; Elementary Education 415, section 1, 2:20 p.m. in Peck Building 0306; Marketing 473, section 1, 12:20 p.m. in Library Building 0058; Sociology 320, section 1, 2:20 p.m. in Peck Building 0312; Spanish 220, section 2, 10 a.m. in Peck Building 0314; GSA/B, section 1, 10 a.m. in Library Building 0044; GSA/C, section 1, 12:20 p.m. in Peck Building 0317; GSC 339, section 2, 2:20 p.m. in Peck Building 3315.

Christmas Vacation at University to Begin

Some students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will have a longer Christmas vacation than others—depending on how soon they finish their final exams.

The SIUE vacation for students begins officially Saturday and continues until classes resume at 4:30 p.m. on Jan. 2.

Because of the ice, sleet, rain and snow, final exams will continue through Saturday, but students who finish their exams early in the week will have more time to get ready for Santa.

All buildings on campus will be closed Christmas Day and on Jan. 1 for New Year's Day.

Gift Basket Collection Starts at GCHS

An increased number of requests for Christmas baskets has been noted this year by the Student Council at Granite City High School which is conducting its annual Yuletide project of providing holiday baskets to needy families. Requests are referred to the student group by principals of all Granite City public schools.

Collection of canned goods, toys, new and used clothing items, supplemented with cash gifts, will continue through next week in homerooms at the high school. Miss Diane Gorwa, project chairman, reported today.

Cash donated to the program will be used to purchase hams and fresh fruit for each basket, she said.

In an effort to spur donations, an added incentive was announced to the GCHS student body this week. Miss Gorwa said a contest is being conducted along with the drive to determine which homeroom makes the largest contribution.

Each student in the winning homeroom will receive a gift certificate from Burger Chef for a free "Big Chef," a certificate from Burger King for a free "Whopper" and a chocolate "Santa Claus" donated by Gasen Drugs.

In addition to the donated prizes, other local merchants have contributed items toward filling the baskets. Miss Gorwa said. They include A&P Grocery Store, Branding's Market, Bunny Bread Co., Kelly's Meat Market, Farm Fresh Store and Viviano's Toy Boy Market.

Members of the GCHS Student Council will sort and pack the gifts Friday, Dec. 22, and personally deliver the baskets to families the same day.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the project may contact Miss Gorwa, at 876-1743, after 4 p.m. Assisting in handling the program are Misses Phyllis Mercer, Vicki Butch and Kathy Lelik. Harry Cook is the faculty coordinator.

Downstate Votes Key to Illinois Election Victory

Study of the official Illinois election canvass underscores the role played by Downstate voters as Democrats narrowly captured the two chief patronage prizes.

Both Michael J. Howlett, elected as secretary of state, and Daniel Walker, chosen as governor, owe their success to the slimmest of the margin by which they trailed their Republican opponents outside Cook County.

Howlett was edged by only 1,402 votes Downstate—1,174,387 to 1,175,789 for Edmund J. Kucharski. With his Cook County advantage of 1,178,446 to 1,079,035, Cook County and, overall, by 77,494 votes—2,371,303 to 2,293,809.

The governor-elect trailed Governor Richard B. Ogilvie 1,192,857 to 1,214,774 Downstate, a difference of only 21,917. Mr. Walker prevailed 1,178,446 to 1,079,035 in Cook County and, overall, by 77,494 votes—2,371,303 to 2,293,809.

The only other relatively close race was captured by a Republican, George W. Lindberg, who defeated Democrat Dean Barringer 2,217,440 to 2,094,798—a margin of 122,642—for state comptroller. Barringer lost Downstate 1,024,315 to 1,232,143 votes for Lindberg, but many votes to be made up by Barringer's Cook County advantage of 1,070,283 to 995,297.

President Richard M. Nixon led the Democratic nominee, Senator George McGovern, by 874,707—2,768,179 to 1,913,472 statewide, including 1,553,872 to 850,204 in Downstate and 1,234,307 to 1,063,268 in Cook County.

Next to the biggest win was the 1,146,047 plurality of U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy, Republican, re-elected 2,867,078 to 1,721,031, including 1,572,507 to 766,463 for Roman Ciesinski, Downstate and 1,294,571 to 934,568 in Cook County.

Re-elected as attorney general, Republican William J. Scott defeated Thomas C. Lyons by a whopping 1,285,092 to 72,898, 198 to 1,613,703, including 1,548,039 to 782,931 outside Cook County and 1,350,159 to 830,172 in the state's biggest county.

The Democratic leaders of Cook and the usual GOP preference Downstate were reflected in the balloting for three University of Illinois trustees. The Republican victors were Ralph C. Hahn 2,204,218 (1,244,229 Downstate and 959,989 Cook County), Jane S. Hayes Radar 2,199,006 (1,225,689 and 973,317) and Park Livingston 2,168,248 (1,202,796 and 965,452). The losers were Ellen Augustyn 2,014,589 (935,574 Downstate and 1,079,015 in Cook County), Nicholas J. Boen 1,974,000 (911,395 and 1,062,605) and Roger B. Pogue 1,938,476 (916,428 and 1,022,048).

It has not always been so, but this year the winners of all major offices also led in a majority of the 102 counties. Howlett carried 54 counties, Walker 52, Lindberg 60, Scott 98, President Nixon 101 and Percy all 102.

As noted, both of the Democratic victors needed and got approximately as many Downstate votes as their foes. Further bearing out the importance of this end of the state, the ballots cast totaled 2,499,788 Downstate to top the Cook County turnout of 2,383,077.

Under the Circumstances, Divide the Levee District

Partial text of comment by Collinsville Herald:

Nobody has ever accused the East Side Levee Board of sensitivity. It has displayed its politics-as-usual tactlessness in its reorganization.

As we pointed out in an editorial, the board for the first time in a long time is legally elected, has a full membership, and is out from under the threat of court action. The way is clear for a new era.

So what happened? The new board replaced its president from Madison County with a St. Clair man, replaced a Quad-City woman with the sister-in-law of former East St. Louis Mayor Al Fields as chief clerk, and replaced Tom Staicoff of Pontoon Beach with the mayor of Brooklyn as treasurer.

Attorneys and engineers were changed.

All this tipping of the scale toward St. Clair County confirmed the worst fears of Quad-City people who have been pushing HB 2416, to split the district at the county line.

They have convinced us that for many years the East Side Levee Board has favored the St. Clair County portion of the district at the expense of the Madison County part. This would not be as bad as it is, they feel, if the Levee Board operated efficiently and economically.

Instead, they recall a long, long history of patronage politics. They recall the recent indictments against Levee Board members.

An inept, ineffectual, ineptly managed organization which compounds its short-changing of the citizens by treating the Madison County portion as a poor relations, wins no friends in the Quad-Cities.

And so it is that Rep. Horace Calvo, Rep. Leland Kennedy and Rep. Robert Walker and Senator Sam Vadelabene are pressing for passage of HB 2416 with the promise of the governor that he will sign it if they can get it out of conference committee and passed.

The new Levee Board, which doesn't want the district split, should have treated its reorganization and appointments more politically, in the best sense.

It should have given due proportion to the Madison County two-fifths or so of its constituency. Then maybe some of the fire would have gone out of their efforts to press for the split.

Unfortunately, the start gives no assurance to the Quad-Cities that the Levee Board will conduct its business in a fair and equitable manner.

Under the circumstances, we hope the split will go through.

Elements of the trend cited were electric toothbrushes, pencil sharpeners and dispensers of transparent tape.

The time will come, Mr. Layloff predicted, when there will be so few physical or intellectual tasks to perform that the ability to be no way of establishing jobs for more than a fraction of the population.

Concern That Vicious Criminals Will Gain Freedom

Copley News Service

There is something surrealistic about a judge sentencing a defendant to serve 400 to 1,200 years in prison.

That was the case, however, this year when Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald of the Circuit Court in Illinois was confronted with the task of resentencing Richard Speck for the murder of eight nurses in Chicago in 1966.

It is the death penalty which confronted Judge Fitzgerald with finding a penalty adequate to the crime in the Speck case. He resorted to a familiar course, meting out sentences for each of the eight murders and providing that they be served consecutively.

For each of the eight murders, he sentenced the defendant to 400 years, with a minimum of 1,200 years in prison.

There are more than 600 other prisoners once condemned to die whose fate will not be easily settled.

Among them is another man convicted of murder, Sirhan B. Sirhan, who is now in prison awaiting a hearing to apply for parole has just occurred—three and a half years after his sentencing in the assassination of Robert Kennedy.

These cases belong in the past as far as the issue of the death penalty is concerned.

However, they demonstrate the vacuum which has been created in the matter of crime and punishment by the Supreme Court death penalty decision.

The nation stands sorely in need of enactment of laws providing punishment for what have traditionally been regarded as "capital crimes."

use of physicians, changing the present situation of shortages in some geographic areas to a national oversupply. Even in remote areas, computer links and engine care be improved.

In addition to the problem of finding challenging pastimes to foster fulfilled lives and an orderly society, the speaker cited the potential loss of part of a freedom to "do your own thing."

Despite one's inclination to follow a particular vocation, it may be necessary to sharply limit the number of persons allowed to prepare themselves with specified skills, he believes.

He sees an increasing trend toward defining future job volume and altering vocational training accordingly, rather than producing far more engineers than a needed, as has occurred.

With 13,000 new medical students expected this year and 14,000 next year, the supplies of 38,000 and 45,000 pre-medical students are leaving surpluses of 25,000 and 31,000 highly-capable but frustrated individuals, Dr. Layloff said. Such examples are thought to be leading to much more stringent control of student placement.

Although many of the changes appear to be beneficial, their side effects could spawn unrest and "turn the American dream into a nightmare," he warned.

Energy consumption will continue to be awesome and the U.S., West Germany, Russia and Japan are working cooperatively to find an economical way to harness the great energy reaching the earth from

Rumsfeld Path to Washington May Go Through Brussels and Chicago

By LESTER BELL
Copley News Service

Washington—Donald Rumsfeld is going to Brussels as the Atlantic Alliance ambassador, but that is only a way station for the young Illinoisian, whose drive equals his sense of destiny.

Stevenson is understood to be ready to face either Rumsfeld or Atty. Gen. Bill Scott. And he is not disposed to dismiss either rival lightly.

However it works out in 1974, whether Rumsfeld loses the primary to Scott or goes on to the general election and loses to Stevenson, the ex-Congressman and White House intimate with executive expertise and diplomatic credentials may have another go at the Senate.

If Sen. Charles H. Percy seeks the Republican Presidential nomination in 1976, Rumsfeld, who served in the Senate for nearly four years, might be a "little bit of a crashpotter."

Rumsfeld himself admits he has made "strange" decisions all his life, solely on the assumption that he can't lose if the job is challenging enough.

He told a political reporter here after President Nixon disclosed that he is nominating Rumsfeld to U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Rumsfeld left Congress in May 1969, when President Nixon named him consul-general in London, a title held by only four other men in the past.

Rumsfeld was also director of the embattled Office of Economic Opportunity.

He was replaced at OEO two years ago by Frank Carlucci.

Since Phase II of the Wage and Price Control Program, Rumsfeld has been director of the Office of Living Costs.

Rumsfeld at 40, has a rich legislative and executive experience—plus his close relationship with the Administration leaders as Nixon's protégé.

He felt he needed experience in foreign affairs and he turned down domestic assignments in Nixon's second term for the Brussels post.

It is his strong sense of destiny and his hunger for challenging experience that inevitably will bring Rumsfeld back to Illinois and to elective politics again after his NATO tour has taught him a lesson.

Among Illinoisans on Capitol Hill, it is widely assumed Rumsfeld will seek the Republican nomination to oppose Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III in 1974. But Rumsfeld can't give that much thought for several months and he won't come to a decision until the end of next year.

Carole, Rita, Cat Make Record Shopping Easy

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

There have been so many far-out records and tapes released in the last month or so that Christmas shopping is actually easy this year.

For example, three of A&M's leading artists — Carole King, Rita Coolidge and Cat Stevens — all have new albums on the racks and any one of them would make an excellent gift.

Miss King's "Rhymes & Reasons" (Ode) is her fourth album and should reach the same heights as her "Tapestry" LP did. It's been a long time between albums but the wait was well worth it.

Carole has put together 12 powerful, skillfully done cuts, all of which will be heard for years to come. Some of the more classic cuts include "Peace In The Valley," "My She Cries," "Come Down Easy," "Gotta Get Through Another Day," "Goodbye Don't Mean I'm Gone." Produced by Lou Adler and sung by Carole King — there couldn't be a finer gift.

Legend in Time

Cat Stevens, who, like Miss King, has become a legend in his own time and it's easy to see why, "Catch Bull at Four" (A&M) has been out only a few weeks and it's already at the top of the charts. Why? Well, that's easy, for Stevens has the gift of insight — insight into the poetry of the world that surrounds each of us.

Emotions run high as you take a walk down "18th Avenue" with the Cat and feel the "Freezing Steel." His incredible lyrics on such cuts as "Sittin' on the bench," "Can't Keep It In," the ballad "Boy With a Moon and Star on His Head" and the epic "Rains," all with shifting rhythms and high-strung melodies make this another Cat Stevens classic album.

"The Lady's Not For Sale" (A&M) is slightly change of pace for Miss Coolidge but an excellent one. Rita hasn't yet reached the heights of Miss King, but this LP should be the spring board. Soul and soft rock are featured on old standards like "Fever," "Bird On The Wire" and "I'll Be Your Baby Tonight." Rita's superb voice adds a touch of beauty to Kris Kristofferson's "The Lady's Not For Sale" and Mark Benno's "Donut Man" and "Inside of Me." The Dixie Flyers handle the backup duties as Rita chirps her best effort to date, so don't overlook this one.

"The Joan Baez Ballad Book" on Ampex tapes is almost too good to be true, and it's sure to ruffle the pages of music history. There's not much that one can say about Miss Baez except that she's absolutely great. She bathes you with her crystal clear voice that is as fresh as a cool woodland spring.

Try the following cuts and you'll see what I mean: "East Virginia," "All My Trials," "House of the Rising Sun," "Black Is The Color of My True Love's Hair," "Barbara Allen," "Mary Hamilton" and "Silver Dagger." It's a real collector's item and everybody enjoys a good book.

Those were just a handful of the good easy listening music LP's and tapes out that might tickle your fancy. However, if of hard rock try the following:

"Days of Future Passed" (Deram) by the Moody Blues is the ear-shattering pleasure of hard rock try the following: "Nights in White Satin" of fame. When "Nights" suddenly hit the charts again, this five-year-old album received a new breath of life. It contains many of their old-time favorites and could be doubled with their new album "Seventh Sojourn" for an excellent gift.

Grand Funk Railroad has out a new album called "Phoenix" on the Capitol label. It features some of the hardest and soundest rock to be found these days. Another fellow who has captured the hearts of America is that wild Englishman David Bowie. Like the Moody Blues, Bowie's old LP's are making a comeback. His "The Man Who Sold the World" is being revived along with his new release "The Rise & Fall of Ziggy Stardust & the Spiders from Mars," both of which contain some far-out rock.

If those aren't what you're looking for, try these: "Joe Cocker" (A&M), Chris Stills and his band provide the back up for Joe who has brought back his old frantic style of music in just plain raw power. "In The Can" on Capitol by Flash is something to look forward to. This English group has improved over its last effort and seems to be well on its way to becoming a supergroup. It also has very interesting cover designs that might get it on with some.

Stevie Wonder's "Talking Book" is another winner on

"Think warm," Steve Fischer, squad leader, told his fellow members of Explorer Post 10-4 who spent last weekend on a winter survival training campout at Camp Sunnen near Post, Mo.

The weather was cold and wet but the program went on as planned. The members of the Law Enforcement specialty Explorer Post, sponsored by the Madison Lions Club and The Madison Police Department, built shelters of natural materials, slept outside for two nights and cooked their meals while it was sleeting.

A simulated drowning, ice rescue, ways of keeping dry and warm were all part of the program.

In addition to the survival skills practiced, Explorers Kevin Kearns, Mike Wilmore, Randy Afolter and Steve Smith gave instructions in self defense.

Squad Three was in charge of the program under Fischer's leadership. Those attending were Roger Barks, Mike Bilbrey, Steve Winter, Brad Crown, Dave Jeffers, Nick Poplichak, Mike Siebert, Bob Dixon, Tim Ballew, Afolter, Kearns, Fischer, Smith and J. Richard Hooks, post advisor.

L. A. Armstrong, United States Postal Inspector for this area, was the speaker Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the Explorers in the Madison Police station. Armstrong reviewed career opportunities as a postal inspector and explained the various ways his organization protects the U.S. mails against theft and fraud.

Ornaments for Holidays 'Fun, Easy to Make'

By ALICE MORRELL
Copy News Service

There is a certain excitement in the air, people are walking at a more rapid pace, and children have a brighter sparkle in their eyes.

Lighting a fire in the fireplace is again a new adventure and all this indicates the holiday season will soon be with us.

It's time to start making the decorations.

I have discovered a clean, easily worked product on the market that makes delightful ornaments, ones the whole family will enjoy making.

It is called Sculpy Plastic Modeling Compound, manufactured by Polyform Products Co., and found in most hobby and craft stores.

Materials needed are one package of the compound, a rolling pin, wax paper, toothpick or pencil, paper for making templates, decorating materials such as small glass beads, sequins, hairpins, wire, cutter, cookie sheet and aluminum foil.

To make Christmas ornaments simply knead a stick of clay in your hands until it becomes pliable, and then place between two sheets of waxed paper and roll with a rolling pin to a thickness of about 1/4 inch.

If you can draw, make a template and place on the clay; cut around the template (Fig. 1) with a sharp knife.

You can also use a cookie cutter. For those who cannot draw, select pictures from books or newspapers or even use children's drawings. This is a delightful way to save their first pictures. Trace pictures, cut out and use as templates.

After cutting, leftover clay can be re-used for more cutouts.

When the cutouts are completed, gently press outlines of faces, hands, jackets, etc., in the clay with a toothpick or with a pencil.

At this stage also press small glass beads, sequins, plastic granules, etc., in desired areas, around the designs or to fill in complete areas.

Hangers may be made by slipping small hair pins over to about half their original length and sticking one into the top of your item.

Place your finished cutouts on a sheet of aluminum foil.

Put the sheet on a cookie sheet and into the oven to bake 15 minutes at 200 degrees and then 10 minutes more at 350 degrees; take out and allow to cool.

When the ornaments are cool they can be painted, or colored with felt tip pens.

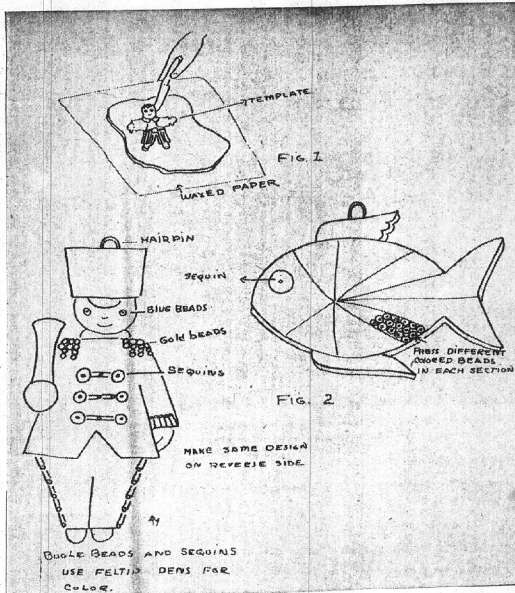

To finish the decorations, spray them with clear acrylic gloss; this helps seal the clay and hold the beads and sequins firm.

Allow the spray to dry for several hours before turning over and doing the other side. These are fun to make and will last for years.

Other suggestions: write names (before spraying) and use as package decorations or Christmas tags, or tuck a couple in your Christmas wreath.

For those of you looking for new hazaar items, these sell well. They are also great for children to make in scout groups, etc.

Experiment and have fun.

DO-IT-YOURSELF ORNAMENTS are illustrated in these sketches.

Live Nativity Scene at Niedringhaus United Portrayed by Church Members

A wooden stable will be erected to house the Holy Family, and a fenced enclosure for a cow, calf and two sheep will complete the live nativity scene on the lawn of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church to recreate the birthplace of Jesus Christ this Christmas season.

One hundred and eighteen members of the church will dress in authentic costumes to portray the Holy Family, angel, kings and shepherds.

They will be divided into groups and will take half-hour shifts to provide the dramatic scene each evening from 7 to 9 o'clock, Dec. 17 to 20. The public is invited to visit the religious display on 20th Street between Delmar and Edison Avenues. "Amahl and the Night Visitors" by Gian-Carlo Menotti will be presented at two performances in Wesley Hall at 7 and 8:30 p.m. on Friday by the Opera Workshop of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The story is being presented as a combined benefit for the Niedringhaus building fund and for the SIUE Opera Workshop. Tickets are available through the church office or Paul Mabrey, 451-9562, at $2 for adults and 75 cents for students.

The story concerns a young crippled boy and his mother and relates the night visit of the three kings on their way to Bethlehem, and how this special night affects the boy. It is a simple, lovely story told through beautiful yet uncomplicated lyrics and song. It easily can be understood and appreciated by children of all ages and any adults will appreciate the talented performers and beautiful story so perfect for this time of year.

Another public program to enjoy during the holiday season will be the annual Christmas Cantata to be presented at Central Christian Church at 7 p.m. on Dec. 17 with the combined choirs of First United Presbyterian Church, Niedringhaus and the host church.

They will perform with a 20-piece orchestra and present "The First Nowell" by Ralph Vaughan Williams. The work written as a nativity play was intended to be staged but will be given as a concert version.

While the church is being rebuilt the Christmas Eve communion candlelight service will be held in Wesley Hall at 4 and 7 p.m. on Dec. 24 to accommodate the congregation, relatives and friends.

The Rev. Roy Baugh is the pastor of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Don't Feel Guilty -- Impulse Buying Is Common to All

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser — Home Economics
University of Illinois,
Urbana — Champaign

You needn't feel guilty about the impulse purchases that end up in your shopping basket. There is more than one kind of impulse buying. The first is the one most common to all of us—pure impulse, or emotional buying. You see something and decide to buy it on the spot.

The more you rely upon habit purchasing, the less you will tend to buy on impulse. Once your buying pattern has been established, it is hard to break out of the routine.

Another type of impulse buying is termed "recognition-recall." Seeing an item reminds you that the supply at home is running low. The decision to buy the item was made in the past and now is a good time to make the purchase.

You might also buy on impulse when you see an item marked "new stock" or you notice the return of an old item. If you can think of rational and functional reasons for including it in your shopping basket, you will likely buy it.

Adapting a shopping list to take advantage of "specials" is another type of impulse purchasing. This type of impulsive buying can usually save you a few dollars.

"Buy one and get one free," "two-for-one sale," "50% off with purchase of two," "one-cent sale," "gift" and "bonus" are all common promotional jargon associated with goods and services in supermarkets, department stores and advertisements.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) set some guidelines for the use of such terms so consumers will know how to interpret the offers.

A "free" offer is based on a "regular price" for the item or service that must be purchased to receive the free one. Regular price means the price that the seller or advertiser has charged for the same quantity and quality for the same service in the local area during the last 30 days. A free offer would be improper for a product or service for which the price is determined through bargaining.

The FTC says that all terms, conditions and limitations connected with the free offer must be clearly disclosed at the beginning of the offer and in close conjunction with it. A footnote in an advertisement disclosing the conditions is not considered adequate. If a free offer is not available in all areas covered by an advertisement, the advertisement must identify those areas.

When notice of a free offer appears on the main panel of a package or label, the terms may be given elsewhere on the package. However, the customer must be informed about the location of the terms on the package and he must not be required to purchase the item to find out the terms. In short, the terms cannot be noted only in guide on the use of the word "free" is the ruling. If a free offer, a single size of a product or a single kind of a service should not be advertised with a free offer for more than six months of any 12-month period. In addition, such offers are limited to three per year and there must be at least 30 days between each offer.

In introductory offers, free offers are permitted only if the seller expects to discontinue the offer after a limited time or to sell the product or service separately at the same price at which it was promoted with the free offer.

Steel Imports in October Third Highest on Record

In October, steel imports soared to their third highest monthly total on record, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

More foreign steel entered the United States during the first 10 months of 1972 than in any other year to date, with the exception of 1968 and 1971. Both were years of steel labor contract negotiations and consumer stockpiling against a possible industry shutdown. Government data show that 1,923,000 tons of foreign steel, including 13,000 tons of fabricated structural steel and steel blanks, arrived in the United States during October. The highest one-month totals ever recorded — both exceeding two million tons — occurred in 1968 and 1971.

Through the first 10 months of 1972, steel imports reached 14,359,000 tons, including 110,000

Some Illinois Department Directors May Be Retained

Copley News Service

Springfield—There will probably be a lot of new faces in the Illinois Department of Public Health after Jan. 8, when Governor-elect Dan Walker is sworn into office.

Walker has already named outgoing State Rep. Anthony Scarianno, D-Park Forest, to head the Illinois Racing Board. The Racing Board has been in a turmoil since the awarding of racing dates for next year.

Scarianno has said he might ask the courts to over-rule the Board's decision on the dates for various tracks scattered throughout Illinois.

However, Scarianno's appointment to the board must be cleared by the Senate. It is no secret that the liberal-minded Democratic representative has made some enemies in the Senate for past actions on legislation that has come to the House from the Senate.

Republicans, who control the Senate, might be inclined to allow some hard questioning of Scarianno when he goes before the Senate Executive Committee for his first step toward confirmation. But it is doubtful that it would be blocked.

Cong. Abner Mikva, a close friend of Scarianno when he served in the House, has been mentioned as a possible appointee to either the Illinois Pollution Control Board as its chairman or as the head of the Environmental Protection Agency. Mikva was defeated in November in his bid for another Congressional term. Probably two of the departmental directors who will remain on the scene are Public Aid Department Director Edward Weaver and Public Health Department Director Dr. Franklin D. Yoder.

Others, such as Human Development Resources Director Paul Wisner, will probably be leaving. It looks as though Budget Bureau Director John Wilbur McCarter Jr. will leave shortly after the new governor is sworn in.

McCarter has been close to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and many of the Ogilvie programs started in McCarter's office. Staunch rumors have it that Charles Woodford, who served briefly as state treasurer, might replace McCarter.

Definite appointments to the various posts will probably be coming shortly.

Food Packaging Poses Problems

By JOYCE ROARK
Copley News Service

Packaging of food can present problems to both the manufacturer and the consumer. Labeling and packaging laws are strict and violations by the manufacturer can result in heavy fines.

The consumer has problems determining the number of servings in a particular size of can. This is complicated in the case of foods canned in water or juice — such as fruits and vegetables.

The net weight (or volume) is the can label. Unit pricing will tell the consumer how much the item costs per ounce, pint, etc. The unit price does not take into account the volume of liquid in the container. Therefore, the consumer is paying an average price for product and water.

If this price is compared to an equal volume of frozen product, the canned item is more expensive per serving.

Federal laws are complicated as is the canning process. Therefore it's up to the consumer to make a judgement as to which type of product is best for his needs and to determine the quality that is needed.

Describe Container
To help with these decisions, I have listed the can size, weight (or volume) and number of servings. This is based on 4 ounce servings and does not take into consideration the fluid packed in the can.

The amount of fluid varies with the type of product, but the consumer should be aware of the law prohibiting a company from using "too much" liquid in a container.

The small no. 2 can contains about 6 1/2 ounces. This can is used primarily for canned fish. The 8 ounce can contains about 2 servings and is primarily used for tomato sauce or small amounts of vegetables.

The picnic can contains about 10 ounces (1 1/2 cups) and is advertised to contain 3 servings. Soup is commonly packaged in this size container.

Vegetables packed in a 12 ounce vacuum can will serve

3-4 people (1 1/2 cups) and is advertised to contain the least amount of liquid.

No. 300 Can
A no. 300 can contains 14-16 ounces, 1 3/4 cups, or 3-4 servings. Foods packaged in this size can include such items as canned spaghetti, spaghetti sauce, kidney beans, and canned fruit.

The no. 303 can is larger and holds 2 cups (16-17 ounces). This size can also contains 3-4 servings.

The larger no. 2 can contains 2 1/2 cups, 1 pound 4 ounces, or 1 pint 2 fluid ounces, or 5 servings of product. A no. 2 1/2 can contains 3 1/2 cups, 1 pound 13 ounces, or 5-7 servings. The largest can contains 46 ounces, 5 3/4 cups, 1 quart 14 fluid ounces, 3 pounds 3 ounces, or 10-12 servings.

Workshop on Drug Abuse For Teachers Approved

A drug abuse workshop for teachers in the Granite City school system will be conducted Feb. 19 - 28 at Central Junior High School by Gerald W. Brown, Central principal and a recognized authority on the topic of drugs.

The workshop, approved by the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night, will include sessions in afternoons until 4 p.m. with classes to be dismissed at 1:30 p.m.

Sixth and seventh hour and first and second hour class periods will be "juggled" during the sessions.

Brown listed five purposes or goals for the workshop:
To produce at least 30 certificated persons who are knowledgeable about the drug problem and are familiar with the drug scene, especially counselors and nurses who have received no previous training.

To offer new teaching techniques that can be integrated into the school curriculum with ease; to ultimately help students define their own values.

To give to the school district and community "drug trained teachers" who will "fan out" into the school system with the closing of Central this school year.

To facilitate a decline in drug abuse among students in the community.

To remind teachers that college or university preparation and state certification does not end their education nor their responsibility to remain informed; to remind them that there is more to be informed than having knowledge of the academic subject.

Congressional Interest Hinges on Amount of Cost

By MICHAEL O'CONNOR
Washington — In the closing hours of the congressional session, dollar signs flow freely as political rhetoric.

One man's national priority is another man's federal boondoggle.

With all of the extended debate and then rather abrupt passage of some bills — one can ask: where do the federal taxpayers' dollars go?

The well-financed and astute staff members of the general Accounting Office have been trying to solve that question for years but never seem to strike an answer which pleases probing congressmen or the electorate.

A rule of thumb is established on Capitol Hill that a "billion-dollar" expenditure usually draws priority attention by any House or Senate member.

Can Be Shuffled
"Million-dollar" appropriations have a degree of significance but can be shuffled along if things get busy otherwise. When you get into the thousands of dollars of federal spending it is often difficult for even the agency which holds the money to define exactly where it will be spent.

A Good Example
One of the best examples of this occurred during the dying hours of the 92nd Congress when the National Science Foundation completed a press release involving a San Diego, Calif., project. The amount involved was $200,000 for one year. As a tribute to big government and bureaucratic communication, the press release deserves repeating intact.

"This project is a component of the structure of ecosystem subprogram of the origin and structure of ecosystems integrated research program of the international biological program."

"The aim of this subprogram is the coordination of research activities of a group of scientists interested in the problem of convergence of ecosystems in an attempt to answer some of the fundamental questions relating to the origin and evolution of plant and animal communities."

Major Question
"The fundamental question being asked is whether two very similar physical environments acting on polygenetically dissimilar organisms in different parts of the world will produce structurally and functionally similar ecosystems."

"To answer this question, two sets of ecosystems with similar physical environments have been chosen. One is the Mediterranean formation of California and their counterparts in Chile."

"The other is the desert scrub of central and southern Arizona and its counterparts in northern Argentina."

"Both of these sets of disjunct formations are remarkable for their climatic and structural similarities. This project will be concerned with plant species diversity in the Mediterranean scrub project."

Taken Attention
As I pointed out earlier, a hundred-thousand-dollar project like this normally gets only token attention from a Congress geared to billion-dollar priorities.

Critics accept the idea that such projects might be needed. But they contend further that if needed it might be helpful if the government—and citizens paying the bill — could understand what the money is going for.

Views of Russian Travels Given in Retail Bulletin

Views and impressions of Russian travels were shared with fellow merchants by Mrs. Faye McCall Wham, owner of The Smart Shop, Centralia, Ill., through the December issue of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association's Member Bulletin.

Mrs. Wham commented on the U.S.S.R., "Russia is a two-layered country. In missiles and space they are right up with the Americans. They are building fast to accommodate tourists, both from within and without the country. Natural resources are overflowing, but they are sadly lacking in creature comforts."

Visiting Soviet retail stores, Mrs. Wham observed that everywhere there were long lines of shoppers waiting to buy. "We retailers in the United States would go mad seeing people walk out of our stores, money in hand, simply because they could not get waited on," related Mrs. Wham, adding, "but in Russia this didn't seem to bother the store managers. They also made comment on differences in store operating procedures, merchandising techniques, quality and quantities of merchandise in Russian shops."

IRMA's Member Bulletin frequently carries articles on store operating problems contributed by members; however, this is the first time the publication has featured an account of foreign travels.

In addition to operating a women's apparel shop, Mrs. Wham writes a syndicated column through which she takes readers along on her many travels. Collections of these travel columns have supplemented lesson material in Centralia geography classes.

She has the distinction of being the first woman to serve on the board of directors of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association, the only statewide association exclusively serving retailing.

YMCA Yule Party for Youngsters Saturday

The Christmas Spirit will ring out at the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., Saturday, starting at 11 a.m. Youth members and "Y" friends, ages 6-12, may participate in four hours of fun and frolic.

Ray Martin, program aide and Candee Freeman, gym supervisor, assisted by Orville Ellis, O. Robin Hutchins and Gerry Hays, will lead the youngsters in swimming, organized games in the gym, singing, stories, cartoon movie and more.

The girls and advisors of Omega Mu Nu Tri-Hi-Y Club of the YMCA will assist by registering, aiding the youngsters in games, and helping serve the mid-day snack.

Gym activities start at 11 a.m. with swimming at noon, lunch at 1 p.m. and Christmas cartoons at 2 p.m.

Admission is 25 cents. The lunch of hot dogs, potato chips and a drink is only 25 cents. Some youngsters may be invited to bring a sack lunch which should be marked with their names. Drinks will be furnished.

Door prizes and awards will be given at the close of the program. Prizes are, swim goggles, T-shirts, pennants, shorts and special 3-month YMCA memberships.

Details are available at the YMCA Youth Department Office at 876-7200.

Weekly School Lunch Sales to Continue

The sale of weekly lunch tickets at Granite City school cafeterias will be continued during the second semester, it was decided by the Board of Education at a meeting Monday night.

The sales were started on a trial basis for the first semester.

Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, reported that ticket sales seem to indicate parent approval of the program with weekly sales generally in the neighborhood of 600. In partial attendance weeks, sales have dropped to slightly less than 500.

The highest weekly figure was 720 with Parkview, Maryville, Johnson and Stallings schools generally selling the most tickets, Rea said, and from the first week, some tickets have been sold every week at every school except Coolidge Junior High School.

He also noted that there has been an increased participation in the free lunch program—in the first three months last year 97,563 free lunches were served and the number this year has increased to 105,047, mostly because of anonymity resulting from the ticket sales.

Journey to the Moon Scout Activity Theme

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

"T minus 30 and counting." Boy Scouts of the Cahokia Mound Council will take a journey to the Moon, which is the theme of a winter event to be held Jan. 13 at the Cahokia Mound State Park under the leadership of members of the Cahokia Lodge Order of the Arrow.

The purpose of the event is to create an atmosphere of patrol competition and fun in a winter setting.

Chairmen of the event, known as "space commanders," are Jeff Tolliver, Venice, and Rich Wallace, Edwardsville, both members of the local Order of the Arrow.

The Scouts will sign in at Cape Kennedy (the park) at 9 a.m. and each patrol will be known as a space team.

The day will be spent in activities to test the Scouts' knowledge of space, including a quiz, a scavenger hunt, and a relay race.

Blasfoni will be the first event. The space ship will blast off and the Scouts will be confronted with an emergency as a "nuclear reactor" in the ship begins to overheat.

The Scouts then will use their gyroscope (compass) to get back on course.

On landing at the "Sea of Tranquility," the space team will encounter a "nuclear reactor" which is highly radioactive. They must retrieve it with caution and make it safe to handle.

The third stage of the adventure is known as "Magellan's A-frame," which the Scouts will retrieve a sample of moon rock.

A special dance is planned during the Christmas holidays, "Third Street." This band was requested by a majority of the Teen Town members.

Form Pontoon Advisory Citizen Group Tonight

A second attempt to form a citizens' advisory body to assist the Pontoon Beach Village Board will be made following a regular village board meeting at 7:30 tonight at the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department recreation hall in Pontoon Beach.

The group was to be formed after the Nov. 23 board meeting but appointment of members had to be delayed, as only five eligible village residents were in attendance.

CRIME REPORT

An estimated 44 million thefts were reported to the police during 1971. The average loss was $110 for a total of $485 million.

84 Lumber Co. Plans Annual Yule Parties In Belleville Ceremony

The Egyptian Preceptory Legion of Honor conferred the DeMolay Legion of Honor upon a group of designates from Belleville, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Granite City and Madison this week at the Belleville Masonic Temple.

Receiving the Legion of Honor as a designate from James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, was George S. Hoeltzscher of Collinsville, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hoeltzscher, 2100 Amos Ave.

He is a past master counselor of the local chapter and is a research audiologist with the Washington University Medical School. He is doing research on sharks and sting rays at The National Geographic station on Bimini Islands in the Bahamas.

Other local designates who were unable to be present for the conferring were Harold Landwehrmer of O'Fallon, where he is superintendent of Elementary School District 90, also a past master counselor of the local chapter, and Dr. George T. Wilkins, a senior member of the local DeMolay chapter.

The Legion of Honor is the highest degree and honor conferred by the International Supreme Council upon a senior DeMolay. It is awarded to one over 20 years of age who has been conspicuous in some field of endeavor or successful in fraternal life, including adult service in the Order of DeMolay.

Mr. Michels was active in Masonry and in the James Stuart Chapter's advisory council. He died Nov. 24.

Bleak Days Ahead At Headquarters Of GOP in State

By BOB ESTILL
Copy News Service
Springfield — There will be some belt tightening at Republican State Central Headquarters in the wake of an election in which Republicans lost the offices where the jobs are—governor and secretary of state.
With fewer Republican jobholders to kick into the kitty, three is less enthusiasm for funding a staff.

The belt can be tightened only a couple of notches because the staff already is slim—six persons in Springfield and two in Chicago. It's a far cry from 1969 and 1970, when Republican State Chairman Victor L. Smith of Robinson recalls there were more than 30 persons on the State Central Committee payroll.

Smith is hopeful of keeping the remaining staff intact. But he may have to cut one or two from the payroll after meeting with United Republican Fund officials and Cook County Republican Chairman Edmund J. Kucharski to discuss the budget matters.

"We couldn't drop more than another one or two and still do a good job," he believes. They may eliminate one by attrition—secretary Sue Bryant. Her husband, Jay Bryant, is an aide to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie; when Jay finds a job, she'll be moving with him.

Other staffers include Richard Church, Smith's assistant; Sid Campbell, county service director; Mike Ducey, who runs the duplicating machines; and secretary Carol McGraw and Anne Engle.

State Central's costs will be reduced somewhat because the Sangamon County Republican organization will be moving into State Central Headquarters and will be helping with the rent after the first of the year.

Scott Will Seek Broadening of Party's Base--But Not as a Czar

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield — Bill Scott has no intention of becoming a Republican Dick Daley.

The newly re-elected attorney general is slightly concerned by a wave of post-election speculation that — because of his landslide victory and Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's defeat — Scott will fill the new GOP power void in a manner similar to the role played for the Democrats by the mayor of Chicago.

He is especially distressed by press interpretation of his remarks at a news conference that he will back any effort to land a Washington job for Republican State Chairman Victor L. Smith of Robinson, as a move to railroad Smith out of the chairmanship and put in his own man.

Smith, who has actually been hot and cold on any federal appointment, was bitter at the Scott remarks. Joint efforts to smooth out the situation have not been entirely successful.

Scott vigorously disclaims any intent to exclude Smith out and doubts that any move initiated by others could be successful.

He notes that members of the State Central Committee, chosen in the Congressional districts, won't be elected until 1974 and that Smith's term runs until then. The only way the post could be vacated would be for Smith to voluntarily resign.

Further scoffing at speculation he wants to be a GOP "boss", Scott emphasizes that he was careful to stay out of Republican legislative fights to choose leaders for the 1973 legislative session. He was under pressure from various factions to become involved. Scott sees his future role not as a strong individual leader but as a force for unity and broadening of the party structure.

He hopes to work closely with U. S. Senator Charles H. Percy in this regard, and talks between the two are certain when the senator returns from his overseas trip.

Like Percy, Scott cites a need for Republicans to broaden the base of their party—especially in Chicago and particularly in black areas.

He disputes arguments that the good showing made in Chicago by him, Percy and President Nixon was a one-shot deal.

Scott, who along with Percy and Ogilvie spearheaded a GOP renaissance in Cook County in the 1960s, contends that black voters have become just as independent-minded as white voters — and that the time has come for Republicans to make a serious and continuing bid for their support.

In renouncing any intention to personally run the Republican party in Illinois, Scott explains that even if he wanted to he doesn't have the time.

Despite persistent efforts of political foes to picture to him as a shallow individual more inclined to politics and public relations, Scott has proven himself to be an outstanding attorney general.

Even a casual conversation reveals the tight grasp he has on the administration of his office.

He is informed up-to-the-minute on legislative matters affecting the attorney general operation, and the progress of wide-ranging grand jury investigations.

The same holds true for pending and potential state and federal court actions.

Scott does share one common view with Mayor Daley: good government is good politics. This policy, rather than backroom maneuvering, could well carry Bill Scott to higher office.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN D. BECKOVICH. They exchanged wedding vows at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. The bride is the former Miss Debra Kaye Sanders, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sanders, 3001 Wayne Ave.

Debra Sanders Becomes Mrs. John D. Beckovich

Miss Debra Kaye Sanders and John Douglas Beckovich were united in marriage Dec. 9 in a double ring ceremony performed at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. The Rev. Roy L. Baugh officiated at the 1:30 p.m. service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sanders, 3001 Wayne Ave. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Charlene Paul of East St. Louis.

For her wedding the former Miss Sanders chose a full length colonial bridal gown of peau de soie, fashioned with long, full bishop sleeves ending in wide satin cuffs edged with lace. The high neckline and bodice were trimmed with a narrow ruffle. A wide sash encircled the waistline, and the full skirt terminated in a deep ruffle.

Her veil of illusion was secured by a Juliet crown of seed pearls. Matching seed pearls decorated the colonial bouquet of white carnations festooned with long pink streamers.

Mrs. Sanders, the bride's mother, appeared in a floor length navy dress with long, sheer sleeves. Silver accessories complemented her attire.

The groom's mother selected a powder blue street length frock trimmed with beads and enhanced with black accessories. White carnation corsages were worn by both mothers.

An evening reception was held at 7 o'clock for family and friends at Amvets Post 51, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

The former Miss Sanders attended Granite City High School and is employed at the Granite City Army Installation.

The bridegroom attended East St. Louis High School and Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville. He is currently employed by Granite City Steel Co.

After a honeymoon trip, the newlyweds will reside in Madison.

Bedsprad Can Complete Room

By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q. I am 15 and would like some advice on my bedroom. The walls are a sort of pink beige. Curtains are a natural beige with trim of brown and orange on the same natural beige background.

The ceiling is white stucco with gold flecks. Night stand and chest of drawers are walnut. The rug is in shades of dark muted greens. I must keep everything the colors they presently are.

What can I do to cheer it up? My favorite colors are blues, greens, purples and yellow—C. G. G.

A. How good at sewing are you? Why not make your own simple bedspread together with your favorite colors? Use huge squares of fabric, 5 by 5 inches or even 8 by 8 inches. Use that for your spread.

Do additional strips of the colors and sew the strips over the orange and brown trim on curtains.

You could do smaller pieces for curtain trim, repeat the same fabric for bulletin board frame. You might also buy a small bright cotton area rug for right by your bed in one of the bright colors of your quilt or buy a white one and dye it.

Q. I recently acquired an antique French Provincial bedroom set. Along with the set, we got a small, stuffed dressing chair. Here is my problem. The material of the upholstery is heavy brocade and is in excellent condition but the color has faded to an off color salmon.

I was wondering if you know of any permanent dye that I may apply to the cloth as opposed to reupholstering the chair. If a dye is used will any of it rub off? In either case, what color should it be?

We have a gold rug, gold painted walls, orange drapes and the provincial furniture which is a yellowish white from age.

I would like to purchase a new bedspread and I don't know whether to get a solid color or a print that would incorporate the colors of the room.—C. B.

A. I don't know of any permanent dye you can apply to the cloth which would give you a satisfactory look. If it is a really valuable antique and in that good condition could you use it elsewhere in your home where the color would be more appropriate?

I would definitely use a print in a white, gold, orange and deep mustard to tie your room together. Repeat the orange and gold and brown in pillows, use some brown accents. Look for a really quality floral in keeping with a French provincial style for it can do much to establish the tone of your room.

You might try to get some extra of the print fabric and trim your drapes. (I think deep mustard on the curtains would be nice if you choose to reupholster it.)

Q. My master bedroom was originally blue and white, had white walls, medium blue curtains and white sheers and the bedspread matched these curtains. I have now changed the carpeting to a deep purple.

I want to keep the curtains and I was wondering if they would look better if I found some kind of ribbon in the same color as the carpet to trim down the front? I want to change the bedspread but I don't know what color to get.

The bed sits against a smoked mirrored wall with gold streaks through it. I have gold swag lamps with a white shade underneath. That wall has a pale gold point on the trim and door.

E. C. C.

A. A purple touch on your curtains or a fabric trim to match the bedspread would be good. For the bedspread why not choose a print in purple, blue and white. With a quality print fabric in a gold design.

I think accessorizing with metal such as brass or iron and with white would be enough, instead of introducing another color. With this plan you could do very nicely with white walls.

Q. I am interested in repainting the doors of our living room and foyer. There are eight doors and their present color is white. I would like to get away from green and gold if possible as these are the basic colors.

What would you recommend to blend in with this color scheme. Painting is an avocation green birch on walls, sectional is a weave of black and green, carpet is black tweed, draperies are gold and coffee tables are gold and white—J. S.

A. Antique green to blend with the avocado green paneling would give you a spacious look. Or if your home is an older one and the doors are of a fine wood you might consider stripping them down to the bare wood and finishing them in a natural wood tone.

This obviously would entail a large amount of work but could produce nice results.

11 Major Firms Linked to City For Secondary Sewage Treatment

Allegations against the City of Granite City regarding its progress toward establishing secondary sewage treatment facilities were outlined at a hearing in Collinsville.

The charges were presented by David P. Welch, a sanitary engineer with the federal Environmental Protection Agency. Portions of the charges and comments follow:

The new standards implementation plan specified that secondary treatment of wastes was to be provided by Dec. 31, 1973 and disinfection of treatment plant effluent by July 31, 1972, by Granite City.

The implementation plan also requires that Granite City provide control and disinfection of treatment plant bypasses by Dec. 31, 1973.

It is anticipated that the city will not meet the schedule for the secondary treatment requirement or control and disinfection of storm water overflows.

The city has not met the schedule for disinfection of treatment plant effluent and is now in violation of that requirement.

As a result of the inadequately treated discharge, the waters of the Mississippi River are being damaged for the uses designated in the water quality standards. These uses are public water supply, whole body contact recreation and aquatic life.

As of this date, the city has submitted final plans and specifications for the secondary treatment plant.

Constructions has not begun on any of the facilities — and no grant application is on file with the federal office for 1973 funds.

The city council has passed a bond ordinance in preparation for financing of an improvement project. However, Granite City was bypassed for funding in 1972 because it was not ready to proceed with its project (no arrangement for local financing) even though the city received a very high priority rating from the state.

Technologically, however, it has been practicable for Granite City to have completed chlorination facilities and to be well into the construction stage for the rest of the necessary projects.

A letter from Mr. Haller, vice-president, M. W., Inc., Environmental Engineering Division, stated that Granite City "has shown a firm commitment to upgrade the waste treatment because plant and specifications were submitted to the state and a bond ordinance was passed by the city to prepare for financing of an improvements project."

Haller presented the city's proposal to meet state standards and the city's implementation schedule as follows:

"The proposed improvements to the waste water treatment plant include the addition of conventional activated sludge secondary treatment, chlorination, sludge incineration, and a primary treatment with chlorination of combined sewer overflow water."

The completion schedule already submitted to the Illinois EPA is as follows:

"Completion of preliminary plans—July 1971; final construction plans—August 1972; commencement construction—Dec. 20, 1972; completion of construction—Dec. 20, 1974; and attainment of the operational levels—Jan. 30, 1975."

It was also mentioned that the current total cost of the project was estimated at $10,316,000.

No reason for the extended implementation plan was given, nor was any mention made about Granite City's failure to receive a grant even though the city had a high priority rating—seven.

No mention was made of grant applications, even though this seems essential for completion of the project.

There is no construction grant application for Granite City on file with the U.S. EPA. Therefore, it seems that the project will be delayed even further, than stated in the reply, since it is unlikely that the city will receive funds before the Dec. 20 scheduled commencement of construction.

Granite City sought a variance from the secondary treatment deadline of Dec. 31, 1973 when it filed a petition for variance before the Illinois Pollution Control Board on Sept. 14, 1972.

The Board has not as yet issued an Order relative to the acceptance or denial of the request. The city was seeking a one-year delay on the completion of the necessary secondary treatment facilities.

It has been technologically practicable for Granite City to meet the required schedule. The city should have had disinfection in operation by now and be far enough into the construction stage of facilities to satisfy the other requirements.

Although construction plans have been completed and have had disinfection in operation by now and be far enough into the construction stage of facilities to satisfy the other requirements.

The average population equivalent for the plant load for 1969-71 indicated that 80% of the wastes are attributable to the industries.

The major industries discharging to the sewage treatment plant, and the types of products or wastes to reach, are:

American Steel Foundries — castings, railroad car frames, A. O. Smith Corp. — automobile frame fabrication.

Conalco — magnesium and aluminum castings, use of lime for pollution control on discharge.

Corn Sweeteners — starches, A. Dressel Foods — dairy, ice cream.

Granite City Steel Co. — sanitary wastes only.

General Steel Industries Castings Division—railroad frames, castings.

Jenkinson-Wright Corp. — railroad tie treating, manufacture of wood preservatives and creosoting.

M. L. Industries, Inc.—lead recovery, production of small steel shipping containers.

Nesco Steel Barrel Co.—wash

By Press-Record Staff Photographer

PRESENTING REBUTTAL to charges against Granite City concerning failure to meet secondary sewage treatment deadlines are Leon Scroggins, the city's attorney, seated in the left background, Ray Haller, background center, of M.W. Engineers and Architects, and Alderman R. E. "Mickey" Robertson, head of the city's treatment plant committee.

They responded to questions from the federal Environmental Protection Agencies' representatives during hearings held in Collinsville. Asking the questions were Walter A. Romanek, left front, hearing officer and an attorney for the U. S. EPA, and Gary Schenzel, deputy chief of the Chicago region of the U. S. EPA.

water from steel barrel production.

Shasta Coal—soft drink production.

East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co. — filter backwash.

After a Sept. 27 plant survey, Corn Sweeteners stopped a wet mill process and reduced its waste load by 2.3 million gallons per day.

Also, the other excessive effluent values would not be significantly reduced.

The sewer mains will still pass the plant during heavy rains or when the river is above 17 feet, and the effluent will still be dangerously high in bacteria content, Welch related.

The discharge from Granite City's treatment plant contains human fecal material, large concentrations of bacteria and excessive amounts of cyanide, oil and grease, and lead and to recreation, including whole mercury which are hazardous to body contact and aquatic life.

The pollution discharges from Granite City, along with that from many industries and other municipalities in the St. Louis and East St. Louis area, are degrading the waters of that stretch of the Mississippi River search in 1965.

He and his wife reside in Lee Center, N. Y.

Evangelism Campaign Being Readied for 1973

By CLAIRE COX
Coxley News Service

New York—Efforts will be made in 1973 to put a Bible into the hands of every man, woman and child in North America because 40 churchmen concerned about the spiritual plight of the nation met in an Arlington, Va., motel in 1967.

The meeting, co-sponsored by Dr. Billy Graham, the evangelist, and Dr. Carl F. H. Henry, former editor of Christianity Today, launched what may turn out to be the greatest interfaith cooperative effort and most massive evangelistic campaign in the history of Christianity.

The group gathered in response to an editorial in the conservative Protestant Christianity Today calling for the pooling of manpower and resources to "carry out the Great Commission of our Lord." Five years of planning at a cost of $2 million are about to make Key 73 a reality.

The name Key 73 was chosen because the group met near the Francis Scott Key bridge linking Washington, D.C., and Arlington. Leaders of the movement felt that it would be fitting to name the effort after the author of the national anthem.

Label Appropriate

The label was found to be appropriate for other reasons, according to Dr. T. A. Raedke, executive director of the evangelizing campaign and former member of the evangelism staff of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

First, he said, 1973 could well be a key year for the churches, if the campaign succeeds. Second, he observed, there are many doors to be unlocked with each person holding his own individual key.

In the years since the Arlington meeting, the movement has grown to a point where nearly every Protestant denomination and group has at least indorsed it in principle. More than 130 denominations, "para - ecclesiastical" groups are participating, mainly at the grass roots, local church level. "Key 73 calling our continent to Christ will be the largest, most massive evangelism effort ever attempted in North America," Raedke declared.

Not Ecumenical

He cautioned, however, that it was not conceived to launch a new ecumenical movement, to establish a more powerful ecclesiastical structure or to force the various denominations and groups into a new church union.

Rather, he said, it was designed to unite Christians in a common task of evangelization of the estimated 40 million unchurched children on the continent and of the growing number of "young" adults.

In elaboration, Raedke explained that the general purpose of Key 73 is "to confront the people of our continent — more fully and more forcefully — with the Gospel of Jesus Christ by proclamation and demonstration, witness and ministry, word and deed."

With about half the people on the continent claiming membership in 340,000 local Christian churches, he said, Key 73 leadership hopes that 100,000,000 individuals will become involved in the evangelizing process.

Cougars Savor National Sports Championship

How sweet it is! Savoring their international collegiate soccer championship gained during the weekend with a 4-1 win over the University of Baltimore and then a 1-0 triumph over Oneonta State U. of New York, the Southern Illinois Cougars are looking back and also looking ahead.

Championships embracing the nation and beyond are nothing new to seven of the SIUE soccer regulars.

Tom Galati, John Stremlau, Chris Carena, Bill Barron, Steve Cacciatore, Dennis Driscoll and Chester Kowalewski have all played on junior U. S. championship teams.

The Cougar seniors who played their final game are Goalie Rick Benben, Mike Boland, Driscoll, Vince Fassi, Kevin Howe and Tim Putnam. Fassi and Howe are considered to be All-American candidates. Another senior, John Barron, was "red-shirted" due to injury and will be back for the 1973 campaign.

Jubilant Kickers
The jubilant Cougar kickers, celebrating their victory in their locker room, threw their coach, Bob Guelker, and his assistant, Pat McBride, plus trainer Bud Buddell, into the shower.

For Guelker it was a record that no coach will ever be able to match. He has now won the first National Collegiate Athletic Association college division soccer title; he also won the first university division title in the lead-off of five titles his St. Louis University kickers won.

Guelker was asked: "If St. Louis U. now goes on and wins the university division NCAA title at Miami's Orange Bowl late this month, would it be possible for the Bills and Cougars to play for the mythical U. S. collegiate championship yet this year?"

To win the university soccer title, the Bills would have to beat the defending national champions, Howard University of Washington, D. C., the club which dethroned the Bills last year, 3-2, and started a nationwide uproar over the use of foreign, and possibly, ineligible players.

Double Attendance?
Answered Guelker: "No, it couldn't be worked out. But when we meet next fall, again at Busch Stadium, it should more than double our attendance, shouldn't it?" he laughed. The Cougars and Bills battled to a 1-1 draw before 15,000 fans at Busch Stadium early in November.

The foreign versus American soccer player debate grew out of a recent page one story on the Howard University investigation by the NCAA by the Wall Street Journal.

In the story, the writer claimed flat-out that the best American soccer players are foreign-born. Members of the Cougars, all sons of Yankee Doodles, just don't buy that.

The championship victory over the Reg Dragons of Oneonta State ran SIUE's 1972 record to 11-0-3. The New Yorkers fell to 16-2-1.

It was the first national championship ever recorded by SIUE since intercollegiate sports were introduced to the new school in the 1967-68 season.

In the fiercely contested battle, before an estimated 3,000 fans, the outcome could easily have gone either way, as the two squads' talent was so evenly matched. In fact, Coach Guelker's SIUE team, showing more discipline compared to the more individualistic style of most Oneonta's European and foreign players, had a slight advantage in the first 45 minutes, posting 19 shots-on-goal to the Red Dragons' 12.

For the entire game, it was 35-31, Cougars.

Chris Carena, the Cougars' leading scorer, blasted in the title game's only goal at seven minutes into the second half on a great play... Tom Twellman, who posted two great tournament games, set up the winning play when he crossed from mid-field to the penetrating defenseman, Driscoll, who in turn back-kicked the ball to Carena for the game-winning shot.

In this sequence leading to the winning shot was the key difference between the two finalists: SIUE featuring all-out teamwork and Oneonta the solo efforts of their obviously great players.

In fact, it took a sensational goal-keeping "save" by the Cougars' veteran goalie, Benben, to save a breakaway solo effort by Oneonta's inside right forward, Carlos Camacho, at four-and-one-half minutes into the first half.

If Camacho had waited just a split second for a teammate to move up and then had passed off, Benben probably could never have stopped the New Yorkers from scoring. As it was, Camacho bore straight in and, at point-blank range, let fire. Benben made the best—and, without a doubt, as far as SIUE was concerned, the greatest—"save" of his entire career.

Seven 1972 Shutouts
Benben's "save" gave him seven shutouts for the season as he wound up his collegiate career.

Fassi was credited with playing a terrific defensive game. Pointing up the teamwork factor of the SIUE team was the make-up of the recently released All-Midwest collegiate soccer team: There is not a single Cougar on the first team. Carena and Fassi did make the second squad and Twellman and Howe were given honorable mention recognition.

Coach Guelker, who is also athletic director at SIUE, concludes that "winning the national title was a great team effort."

"I'm proud of all the boys. They wanted it badly enough to make the sacrifices all season necessary to get in shape to go full-out 90 minutes every game."

Social Security Retirement Pay To Be Increased

Social security retirement payments to most widows will be increased in 1973, according to William Phalen, social security district manager in East St. Louis.

Most widows who first get widows checks at age 65 will get 100% of their deceased husband's benefits in the check they receive in February 1973. If the deceased husband received reduced retirement benefits before he died, it will cause a reduction in the amount of the widow's check.

Widows who get checks before age 65 also will get a reduced amount. All reductions are based on the exact number of months involved.

For example, if she started to receive checks at age 60, she would get 71.9% of his benefit. If she started to get checks at age 65, she would get 82.9% of his benefit.

Social Security has started the change-over to higher benefits for those widows now getting monthly checks. According to Phalen, the increased amounts will show up in the checks widows receive on or about Feb. 3, 1973.

Phalen said most questions about social security can be handled over the telephone. The number of the East St. Louis office is 274-2200 and 397-5530.

Prosperous 1973 Seen, Especially If Government Curbs Its Spending

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 50 Thur., Dec. 14, 1972

Prudential Insurance Co. this week predicted another year of economic prosperity for 1973, but warned that restraints on federal spending will be necessary to avoid a resurgence of inflation.

The prediction and the note of caution were part of Prudential's annual economic forecast for 1973, prepared by the company's chief economist, Dr. Robert Ferrari, and his staff.

Dr. Ferrari says that continued large federal deficits, as the economy becomes more fully employed, will increase inflationary pressures.

Appropriate restraints on government spending would help reduce budget pressures, lessen will be made in other durables, such as furniture and appliances, and in the services area, it is predicted.

Housing expenditures will be $52.5 billion, down slightly from this year's record high.

Prudential notes that housing boom, under way since late 1970, has been longer and stronger than most analysts had anticipated. It said this record pace of housing construction and mobile home shipments may not be sustainable through 1973.

Even with a decline in starts, however, housing production may continue at a high level due to high demand and an ample supply of mortgage money.

Business plant and equipment outlays are to rise 12% to a $135 billion level in 1973, continuing the high gain of 1972. Prudential credits the increase to improved corporate liquidity, output and profits, plus continued incentives from tax credits and liberalized depreciation programs.

Most of the investment gain next year will be in the manufacturing sector, which had lagged behind non-manufacturing during the past three years. Substantial gains will be shown in both equipment purchases and non-residential construction, it is believed. Inventory investment may produce an $11 billion accumulation in 1973. This long-awaited rebuilding of stocks began last spring and should accelerate next year, ending a sharp two-year decline in the inventory-sales ratio.

Federal purchases of goods and services could rise 4% to nearly $112 billion. This figure, however, excludes outlays not counted directly in GNP. These include transfer payments, such as Social Security, grants-in-aid and revenue sharing.

Defense expenditures account for three-fourths of all federal outlays for goods and services. These expenditures, after declining the past two years, are climbing $5.5 billion in 1973 with the acceleration of naval and air activity in Southeast Asia. In 1973, they will rise $2 billion.

Savings from a cease-fire will likely be invested in new weapons systems and restocking of military inventories.

State and local purchases will increase 13% to a record $108 billion, spurred by steep increases in revenues from taxes, and in-

Green Co. Bricks Protect Building At Moon Launch

Half a million bricks of the industrial country, which has facilities in Granite City—have completed their 12th supporting role as a Cape Kennedy launching base for the Saturn/Apollo program.

In the most historic application ever for refractories, the Mexico, Missouri-made brick had performed flawlessly for 11 previous manned Apollo flights prior to the Dec. 6 night launch.

The Green Co. built two launch pads in 1963 and 1966 to provide the usual "back-up system." Last week at the Kennedy Space Center launch Complex 39 of Pad A was used for the 11th time. The other, Pad B, which is identical to the first one built, has been used only once.

More accustomed to the floodlights and footprints that accompany America's astronauts than to the fire of the Saturn rockets, the pad is subjected by the launching to only a few seconds of intense heat.

But the temperature is hot enough to melt steel. The brick are baked in 4,000 degrees F., thrusting down on the pad at a velocity of 3,000 miles per hour.

Each time, the brick have successfully completed their mission, which is to protect an underground two-story building filled with sophisticated electronic data and monitoring equipment, along with an emergency escape route.

The building is protected by a three-foot-thick wall of concrete; but without refractories to shield the wall from the high temperatures the concrete would have exploded.

Chairman of the Board William S. Lowe, who spoke here last month, said after the latest launching that "we in Mexico and especially at the A. P. Green Refractories Co. can't feel a strong sense of pride and possibly reflected glory."

"All the launch pads at Cape Kennedy, including the one used in this launching, contain materials produced by our company, mostly at the Mexico plant."

He noted that the company has been involved in supplying materials to Cape Kennedy since early 1960s.

Accident on Ice Here Injures Two in Auto

Clarence D. Hutchings, 32, of 2213 Charles St., and his passenger, Charles Rusick, 30, of 1825a Sixth St., Madison, were injured in an accident which occurred when an auto driven by Claude P. Kessler, 46 River Drive, was unable to stop on ice at 4:10 p.m. Monday at Nameoki Road and Pershing Boulevard.

Rusick was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with pains to the neck.

AUTO STALLS, STRUCK

When an auto driven by Anthony R. Clagett, 178 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, stalled on Nameoki Road at Lindell Boulevard, it was struck by a car driven by Elmer A. Monroe, Firmin Route One, who was unable to stop on ice.

The materials, we also designed these now quite complex launching platforms and supervised the installation.

From the very first pad, which merely consisted of a flat surface of a circular design, to the now sophisticated launch trenches spanning 42 feet above ground and 58 feet in width, covering a quarter of a square mile, we have shared in the continual advanced exploring outer space," Lowe continued.

Although Apollo 17 marks the end of an era, Lowe said the Green Co. will continue to be involved.

"There will be other launchings on reconstituted programs, as our government is now committed to work jointly with the Russians in establishing a link-up sometime in 1975. We expect to continue to share in the glories of these accomplishments."

Sixty-six carloads of refractories were required to build each pad. A long and deep flame trench divides the center of each structure to divert the flames away from the immediate area.

Water is poured into the trench slightly before ignition, thus causing the huge clouds of steam.

In 1966, Green received the Missouri Engineering Wonder Award for design and installation of the Cape Kennedy launching pads, which 36 astronauts have walked across on their way toward the moon.

Bill to Reinstate Death-Penalty Sought

A bill that would make the death penalty mandatory in Illinois for most types of murder, except crimes of passion, may be introduced soon by two representatives.

Rep. Henry Hyde (Chicago) and Rep. Joseph Sevelik (Cicero) said this week that they plan to introduce legislation requiring the death penalty in murders of candidates, elected officials, policemen, firemen or penal institution employees.

Death also would be mandatory if murder occurs during armed robbery, kidnapping, arson, the intentional destruction or disruption of community facilities or the contamination of food products.

Mass murderers also would call for the mandatory death penalty, under the proposed legislation.

Too Many Non-Prescription Drugs Sold, Professors Say

Many members of the American public are buying and using too many non-prescription drugs sold over-the-counter, say two professors of pharmacology at the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine at Edwardsville.

Thomas Nelson, chairman of the dental school's department of pharmacology, and David Brown, a faculty member in the department, believe people must be discerning when listening to advertising claims for over-the-counter drugs.

"The average consumer should ask himself what the advertisement is really saying," said Brown. "If a product supposed to have 'twice the pain reliever,' what does this mean?"

Nelson said the "deviousness" of most drug advertising is "disgraceful." He said consumers who assume that some responsible agency is guarding them against false claims are mistaken.

Nelson said the Federal Trade Commission and the Food and Drug Administration are generally assumed to control over-the-counter drugs, but he said the federal agencies appear to have little control, or if they do have control, they've been lax or too overworked to exercise it.

The dental school professor's statement is corroborated by U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating the effect of non-prescription drug advertising on public health and welfare.

Neither Doing Much

"The Food and Drug Administration is supposed to control labels and quality and the Federal Trade Commission the ads, but neither one is doing very much," the senator said. "It takes the FTC a minimum of two years to correct a misleading ad. Literally thousands of worthless drugs are now on the market."

The FDA estimates there are from 100,000 to 500,000 over-the-counter drugs on the market today, grossing about $1 billion annually. Very few of the non-prescription drugs have been tested for effectiveness, the FDA says.

Brown said consumers should be particularly careful with compound drugs. (For example, the nationally advertised brand Excedrin contains not only aspirin but also acetaminophen, salicylamide and caffeine as a half cup of coffee.)

"If all you need is aspirin, why buy a compound with things you don't need," Brown said.

Brown and Nelson say consumers should understand the possible side-effects of common medications such as aspirin before they take them. These preparations contain binders and fillers and different persons can react differently to such additives.

"Aspirin causes stomach hemorrhaging in some people," Nelson said. "The human stomach is very acidic while aspirin contents are not. When aspirin is absorbed it crystallizes inside the stomach cells and becomes locked in causing cell damage, possibly killing the cell. By chewing an aspirin and taking it with plenty of water, this problem can be reduced."

Potentially Dangerous

The FDA reports there is widespread misunderstanding of the potential dangers in over-the-counter drugs. About 300,000 persons per year are hospitalized because of adverse reactions to over-the-counter drugs and the number of deaths is unknown, the FDA reports.

Nelson said even when a non-prescription tonic causes no physical harm, at best it may be a waste of money.

"Taking one of the popular iron-vitamin preparations probably won't hurt you and it may even help, though I doubt it will make you 'incredible,'" Nelson said. "Actually, a blood test doesn't cost much more than a bottle of tonic, yet some people will buy the tonic without once getting a blood test to learn if they even need it."

Nelson said it is difficult to give sound advice about how in general a consumer can learn what over-the-counter drugs to avoid. He said most pharmacists, physicians and dentists will give a straight answer when asked about over-the-counter drugs.

Brown said self-education is an important step. He said many persons will say they do not take drugs and several minutes later drink a cup of coffee with caffeine, smoke a cigarette filled with nicotine or pour a glass of alcohol.

"But," Brown said, "the over-the-counter consumer shouldn't always be which drug to buy, but rather should one be used at all. Unless you know what you're taking and what it will do to you, it's probably best not to take anything at all."

Students Serve as Interns In Fraud Investigation

Copley News Service

Springfield—In Illinois, there are students willing to pay for the privilege of learning how lightning rod swindlers work.

Not only lightning rod swindlers. There are also the pyramid franchise operators, the phony termite inspectors, the fraudulent furnace repairmen, and the honest merchant with a communications gap.

They all come under the jurisdiction of the consumer fraud division of the Illinois attorney general's office and so they are all part of the subject matter for students taking a college internship as part of their training.

Under an internship program, a student spends one full quarter of his college experience working off-campus, full time, in some area relative to his major course, under continuing faculty supervision. So, a student, like Sangamon State University in Springfield, requires such a quarter for all candidates for a bachelor's degree.

So far, says George M. Schafer of the consumer fraud division, some 10 students have spent from three to five weeks each at their own expense — working in the division, in the program.

Student Joined Staff

One student from Sangamon State liked his experience in the division so well he came back after graduation and is now a full-time—and paid—member of the staff.

Another SSU student has just started his internship. A number of other interns have come from Western Illinois University at Macomb which actively utilizes the program, adopted a few years ago. One student, the only girl to participate so far, came from Northeastern Missouri State College in Kirksville, Mo.

Many of the interns, Schafer said, are majoring in police sciences and are aiming at careers which such investigative experience, and some knowledge of how frauds work, may be of value.

First step when an intern is accepted is to supply him with copies of applicable laws and current brochures, as well as the same kit given to all new investigators on the staff, outlining the division's work and how it does it.

After a week or so of this backgrounding, interns start traveling, another investigator, then are assigned cases of their own to handle as well as answering phone calls and dealing with people with problems who just walk in off the street.

Only about 10 to 15% of the division's business involves real, hard-core fraud, Schafer said.

State Rules Maternity Leave Cannot be Forced

Copley News Service

Springfield — A teacher who becomes pregnant cannot be forced to resign or to take a maternity leave if she wants to stay on the job and her doctor says she is able to do so.

So says a recent ruling by the legal department of the office of the state school superintendent.

Based on relevant court decisions in several other states and guidelines issued by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the legal finding holds that a pregnancy should be treated only as a temporary illness.

Since male teachers are not penalized for sick leave, the opinion goes on, female teachers should be treated the same if they are temporarily ill—that is, pregnant.

The opinion also holds that pregnant teachers can use their accumulated sick leave during pregnancy leaves, and cannot have their seniority rights affected during that period.

Treatment Varies

Treatment of pregnant teachers has varied widely in the past from school district to school district in the state. In many, the official position has been that pregnant teachers are subject to ridicule from their students, and that the teacher could be accused by a student and the teacher or her unborn child, or both, could be injured.

In several separate cases recently, the courts have overruled such policies.

A policy of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission filed, on the same subject, has held, in part:

"Many states have enacted laws with respect to the employment of females. Among these laws are those that prohibit or limit the employment of females for certain periods before and after childbirth."

These laws do not take into consideration the capacities, preferences and capabilities of individual females, and therefore discriminate on the basis of sex. These laws will not be considered a defense to an otherwise established unlawful employment practice . . .

9 States Provide Bonuses to Vets Of Vietnam War

By MICHAEL O'CONNOR
Copley News Service

Washington—Nine state legislatures have adopted programs to provide local payments to Vietnam veterans over and above established benefits approved by Congress.

The implementation of state "bonus" incentives is expected to be followed by other legislatures as American involvement in the Southeast Asia war is terminated.

To date, "bonus" programs for veterans have been established in Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, North Dakota and Vermont.

Benefits range from direct cash outlays to bona fide interest-free loans to exempt income and property taxes.

In Connecticut, anyone who served in the armed forces between January of 1964 and the war's termination date will be eligible for a $10 monthly state payment for months served.

The maximum contribution is $300. Delaware offers a similar cash compensation to all state veterans who served in Vietnam with $300 also the maximum.

Illinois offers Vietnam veterans a bonus of $100 for any serviceman who is recipient of the war's service medal. To be eligible, a veteran must have been a resident of Illinois for one year prior to entering federal service. The state also offers service connected death benefits for survivors up to $1,000 for eligible dependents.

In Louisiana, there is a $1,000 survivors benefit payment to Vietnam veterans. Similar programs for World War II and Korean War veterans in the state have expired. The payments, in most instances, are intended for the parents of the veterans.

A $300 payment also is available to veterans of Massachusetts with six months of residence prior to induction. Payments up to $200 are also possible for Vietnam war veterans who did not serve overseas.

North Dakota offers one of the largest veteran benefits programs with a maximum payment to the individual or survivors of $800. The state law also makes such payments exempt from claims by creditors.

Specific Allocations
Pennsylvania has offered state bonus benefits for veterans since World War I but its specific allocations for returning Vietnam servicemen are not spelled out in current state law.

South Dakota follows the formula of cash allocations to eligible native sons who served in Vietnam and sets a maximum payment at $500.

Vermont veterans are entitled to a $10 per month payment not to exceed one year. A similar state payment goes to the dependent of any state veteran killed in Vietnam during the post-1964 period.

All of the state veterans' benefits augment the basic federal rights on insurance loan benefits, burial rights and hospitalization.

Although the laws have not been approved, there are reports here that sentiment is building for legislation in other states to grant certain property tax or income exemptions to returning veterans. The di-

New Drive Against Heroin Smugglers Looms for 1973

By RAY McHUGH
Chief, Washington Bureau
Copley News Service

Washington—A White House congressional assault on illicit narcotics traffic is shaping up for early 1973.

President Nixon has promised to send Congress in January proposals for sweeping "get tough" laws aimed at dope smugglers and pushers.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is planning hearings on the worldwide pattern of narcotics traffic with special attention to be given Communist China's possible role as a supplier and a Japan's remarkable success in stopping addiction.

Chairman James Eastland, D-Miss., and Senator Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., have called for the hearings. A key witness will be Gen. Lewis Walt, former deputy commander of the Marine Corps and a veteran commander in Vietnam.

Walt's recent recommendations in a Senate Internal Security subcommittee report have apparently already caught the eye of President Nixon.

Backs Two Proposals
In recent campaign speeches, the President backed two key Walt proposals:
1. An investigation into leniency shown to drug traffickers.
2. Mandatory minimum sentences for convicted drug pushers.

Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst says the proposed Nixon bill also will prohibit bail in federal heroin cases and would make possession of heroin or cocaine a felony instead of a misdemeanor.

In the subcommittee report, Walt criticized lax U.S. laws, judicial procedures and enforcement. They do not match safeguards in many Western European and Arab countries, or Japan, he said.

Japan may be studied closely. In 1968, that country was gripped by a narcotics wave that created 500 addicts.

Register Addicts
Subcommittee staff members say a vigorous law enforcement and court campaign broke the traffic. Japanese officials now register up to a few new addicts each year.

A key weapon in the successful Japanese program was authority to interrogate suspected drug traffickers for up to 22 days without giving them access to attorneys. Officials of the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs on some of the interrogations.

"The net result was a mountain of information that brought arrests and convictions," said one subcommittee staff aide.

"It's significant that despite Japan's affluence and its well-advertised youth problems, the pushers are still staying away."

Study Japanese Experience
Dr. Philip Jaffe, head of the special action group of the
